

MAN KILLED IN HIS BEDROOM

Wife Held on Charge of Murder— Says Husband Abused Her— Thinks She Struck Him

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—William Power, 65 years of age, who lived at 577 Western avenue, West Lynn, was killed in his bedroom yesterday morning by a blow on the head, and the police are holding his wife, Elizabeth, on a charge of murder.

In the police station yesterday afternoon Mrs. Power declared that her husband had been drinking and had threatened to stab her Saturday night. She stated that she had been badly abused during her 12 years of married life.

She claimed that yesterday morning about 11:30 he threw a pair of dirty water at her and then advanced toward her in a threatening manner. After that, she says, she cannot recall just what happened, but states that she must have delivered the blow that killed him. She is 42 years of age and has six children.

Woman's Sub

Between moments of sobbing, Mrs. Power related her story and talked freely with the police and newspaper men. Power had several convictions for intoxication in different courts. The oldest child, Emily, 11 years of age, says that she took a knife from her father Saturday night.

The police story of the tragedy begins when Dr. Thomas P. Grady notified them by telephone that a man was dead under peculiar circumstances at 577 Western avenue. Inspectors Burdick and Thorne went there immediately.

Dr. Grady reported that he had been called to the house, had found the man lying dead on his bed with a suspicious looking black and blue mark, with abrasions running from the left eye back to and covering the left ear. He had notified Medical Examiner Pinkham, who arrived shortly after the police.

Mrs. Power was about the house, she told them that around half past 11 in the morning, her husband, who had been drinking considerably of late, had thrown a pair of dirty water at her. This, she said, had been in the bedroom, where she had gone, leaving him sobbing their 8-year-old boy, Edward.

Mrs. Power, a housemaid at the place, said that she had been present and had heard part of the wrangle and had received also a part of the contents of the pair. She told the police she left after Power had used the pair and knows nothing further until Mrs. Power came to the head of the stairs and called for her to get a doctor, saying that her husband was dying.

Mrs. Power contacted a boarding house, James Flynn, one of the boarders, ran out and called Dr. Grady. He also says he heard a sound of quarrelling and heard Mrs. Power call for a doctor. James McLeod, another boarder, told of having heard Mrs. Power abused by her husband when Power was under the influence of liquor.

Helped Support Family

Mrs. Power told the police she supported her husband, in part, by taking boarders. She said they had lived in the Maplewood section of Malden and at 29 Russell street, Charlestown, and were married at South Boston 12 years ago. She said she had brought up six children largely on the money she had earned running the boarding house.

She was taken to the police station, charged with murder, while her children cried and grieved about her, in spite of her assurances.

Power, when he worked, was employed as a carpenter's assistant at the Charlestown navy yard. He was a Civil war naval veteran.

"I struck my husband I did it in self defence," said Mrs. Power to a reporter yesterday.

"I have lapses of memory at times. I recall him coming towards me after he had thrown a pair at me and spat on me with his contents. I suppose I must have hit him and grabbed whatever I could."

Attorney J. W. Sullivan called upon her at her cell to the afternoon. He said her defence would be self-defence. Medical Examiner J. G. Pinkham, after performing an autopsy, said death was due to cerebral hemorrhage caused by a blow. Because of Power's drinking proclivities, it is believed, his arteries might have been in condition to stand much of a blow.

BOTH TRACES BLOCKED

Heavily Loaded Refrigerator Car Jams Rails on Boston & Maine Railroad Near Saugus Bridge

LYNN, Jan. 27.—Traffic on both inward and outward tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, between Lynn and Saugus, was blocked for more than an hour last night. A heavily loaded refrigerator car on an eastbound freight train jumped the rails about 100 feet west of the Saugus river bridge. The big car blocked both tracks and a half dozen trains, with passengers, were held up until a working crew had replaced the car on the tracks.

Had the accident occurred while the train was passing over the bridge a bad wreck would have resulted, for the car went far enough away from the rails to have toppled into the river had the train been on the bridge.

Asks Reward and Is Arrested

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Because he found a pet Boston terrier and claimed $19 reward before giving up the animal, which is valued at $50, Bartholomew Cousins of 4 Belmont place, Brighton, was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Merriam of the Brighton police on a warrant charging him with the larceny of the dog. The complaint was made by the Boston & Albany railroad.

FIGHT NEAR THIRD RAIL

Many Watch Men Roll and Struggle

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Passengers in the Union station of the Washington street tunnel yesterday afternoon saw two men and an elevated porter in a rough and tumble fight.

The combatants were George McCarthy, claiming to live at 22 Cortland street, Everett; Frank McCarthy, who gave his address as 35 Lyons street, Everett; and Oscar Fitzgerald, 115 Hastings street, Cambridge. The last is a colored porter employed by the elevated. He was sweeping the station platform when the row started.

At one time the three men rolled up in a human ball, it appeared to the onlookers, and some dangerously near the edge of the platform. The deadly third rail was just below. One of the spectators rushed upstairs and summoned a policeman. He placed the three men under arrest. At the Hanover street station Bridgeman was pulled out, but the Everett men were not so fortunate.

TAFT'S TRAVEL RECORD

When He Retires From Office March 4th It Will Be About 125,000 Miles in Four Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—When President Taft retires from public office on March 4th next he will take with him a record for travel that will probably be unique for some years. It is estimated that during the four years he has been president he will have traveled about 125,000 miles, or five times the distance around the world at the equator.

He has used trains, motor cars and battleships in his touring and has been in every state in the Union except Oregon and North Dakota. He has made two trips to Panama, and together with his two long swings to the Pacific coast and back, have helped considerably to increase the total mileage.

In addition Mr. Taft has made innumerable trips from Washington to New York and Chicago and in the summer has taken many short trips from Beverly. It is estimated that he has been seen by 25,000,000 people, or about one-fourth of the total population of the country. He has delivered speeches in every neck and corner of the country. His speech making record is probably the longest of any president in 1500, or about one a day during the presidential term.

Congress has appropriated $25,000 a year for the president's traveling expenses and every year he has used up the appropriation. A large amount of this year's fund has been spent, but it has not been exhausted and President-elect Wilson will have as much as he needs to run from March 4 to the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. Wilson will probably remain in Washington during the special session of congress and for this reason his traveling expenses in the current year will not be heavy. The new appropriation will become available on July 1 next.

STILL CHANGE IN MAINE

Ice Poor Now, But Freezing Weather Would Permit Cutting as Late as March

GARDINER, Me., Jan. 27.—Some concern is expressed over the ice situation. While all the rivers in the state are closed at the present time, there are comparatively few good holes of ice, and with two or three more days of mild weather one or two of the large rivers may break up completely.

It is difficult to find cakes running there than four or five inches at this time, and the quality doubtful. Some ice could be cut at the Kennebec, but it is hardly of sufficient thickness and quality to warrant operations by the American ice company.

After the middle of February it is almost impossible to harvest ice on the Hudson. In Maine this does not hold true. In the last two great ice years for this state, the bulk of the crop much after the middle of February, much of it after the first of March. With good freezing weather from this time on a substantial harvest could be secured on the Kennebec and Penobscot.

Church Choir on Strike

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 27.—Eighteen Princeton students brought here yesterday in the capacity of strike breakers sang the morning and evening services at St. Michael's Episcopal church in place of the members of the regular choir, who had struck. The students declared the action was but refusing with them and their organists. The organists also walked out with the singers and a substitute had to be engaged.

The strikers cancelled their brethren in labor disputes by picketing on the outside of the church, and as a result of their talk with morning worshippers, many of the latter did not attend the service.

Sick For First Time in 10 Years

DENVER, Jan. 27.—To think of being sick for the first time—and at my time of life! Mrs. Mary Foley, aged 71 years, was the object of flying people, thinking it is strange that she should be ill. Never since she can remember, she said last night, was she ever forced to take to her bed because of sickness, but she is suffering from heart trouble and her doctor fears the worst.

"I AM TIRED OF LIFE"

Wrote Girl Who Committed Suicide

NEW LONDON, Conn., Jan. 27.—"I am just tired of life," was the message written by Miss Bernice E. Leach, which she pinned to her breast before she placed in her mouth a tube leading to a gas jet, wrapped a blanket around her head and died of asphyxiation in her home, 455 Main street, late Saturday night.

Miss Leach came from St. Albans, Vt., with her stepfather and mother a few years ago.

She was a talented musician and was having an expensive wardrobe made which she was to wear in her debut at the Nathan Hale school concert here next month.

For several months she had been employed as stenographer by James Duffy, architect, in State street. She resided alone the greater portion of the time at the Leach home in Main street, as her parents are employed at the insane asylum at Norwich and come to this city on Sundays only.

For a couple of years a brother named Herbert, with headquarters at 2 Wall street, New York, and believed to reside in the suburbs of that city, has been coming to New London occasionally, calling on Miss Leach, and among her acquaintances it is thought the pair were engaged and would soon be married.

Herbert arrived from New York Friday evening shortly after 5 o'clock. Miss Leach met him at the station and the couple were seen at the station again Saturday noon when the brother returned to New York on the 12:30 express.

No reason is given for the girl's sudden determination to end her life, except the brief note she wrote before pinning it to her breast. It is reported a letter was found in the room after her death which was turned over to Acting Medical Examiner Hoyer.

The body of Miss Leach will be sent to Chelsea, Mass., for interment.

WIVES FOR HER SONS

Woman Trains Girls in Her Home

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Louis J. Tichenack of 3614 South Grand avenue, trains servant girls in her own home to be the wives for her sons. She has made three of these matches and they have been so successful that she plans for keeping her personally-conducted matrimonial system in operation until her nine sons have taken servants of the family as wives.

Miss Sun and One Daughter

The father of this interesting family of nine sons and a daughter also has a system. As each son reaches the age of 16 he is given an interest in the father's business and becomes an active partner in it. Tichenack has just taken his eighth son, Harry, into the firm.

Their mother finds their wives and puts them in business, and everybody is happy," says Tichenack.

Mrs. Tichenack has a rule which thus far has never failed her. This is the way she states it:

"If a girl is good enough to work in my household for five years, she is good enough to marry one of my sons."

When a girl has successfully passed through the five years of probation and has shown that she is proficient as a cook and as a housekeeper, according to the standard set by this mother of 10, Mrs. Tichenack does not hesitate to give her son a wife as a qualified and desirable helpmate.

Mr. Tichenack is a wealthy marble manufacturer and former state representative.

INJURIES FATAL

Quincy Man Struck by Train Last Night Died in Hospital—Attempted to Cross in Front of Express

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Joseph Dellase, 23, of 22 Pond street, Quincy, who was struck and thrown over the gates into Water street, near the Quincy Adams station, just before 1 o'clock last night, by the locomotive of the express which he had attempted to cross in front of, died later in the evening at Quincy City hospital from injuries not at first thought serious.

Dellase, accompanied by Frank Dall of Quincy, tried to get across under the gates before the oncoming train reached the depot. His companion succeeded and Dellase had come within a foot of clearing the path of the charging locomotive when it hit him.

Lost Suit as Bed Burned

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—John Brooks, who has been narrowly escaped death and lost his only set of clothes early yesterday morning, was a fire which he caused with a lighted cigarette at the Homestead lodging house, 122 Elliot street.

He was rescued by Patrolman William Corcoran of one of the fire patrol companies, who crawled through the fragrant of the room and dragged the sleeping man from a mattress which glowed like a live coal.

SLASHED ON THE FACE

Negro Cut Up White Man and Escaped

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—The unwarranted slashing on the face of a white man by a slouching negro on Huntington avenue near the corner of West Newton street at 10:20 last night caused intense excitement in that section and resulted in the chase, led by Back Bay policemen, of fully 200 citizens, who searched houses on St. Botolph street from cellar to roof in an unsuccessful attempt to locate the negro.

The man cut is Robert T. Ashby, about 35 or 40 years old, who is said to live at 35 Gainsboro street, and who is an employee of an electric lighting company. In his younger days Mr. Ashby won considerable notice as an athlete. In the melee of last night his nose was nearly severed and it is understood that a doctor on Columbus avenue had to put in several stitches to close the wound.

A peculiar feature of the assault and chase is the fact that up to a late hour last night the police had not been able to locate either the colored man or his victim. Just why is not known, as the police were on the scene in a short time.

The colored man ran after wielding his razor and Ashby is said to have rushed around blindly in pursuit, finally reaching Columbus avenue, where he staggered into a doctor's office. The police are making an effort to locate him as well as the colored man.

Escapes the Police

Ashby was walking up Huntington avenue toward his home when it is said that the colored man lurched violently against him as he neared West Newton street. Ashby resented the assault.

Patrolman Flaherty was a short distance away at the time and put after the fleeing man, thinking that he could get him easily after a short run. But the colored man was too quick and got away. It is presumed that in some manner he got out of the house again and made his way over the footbridge that leads to Claremont park.

LECTURED ON POISONS

Dr. M. A. Tighe Gave
Talk to Policeman.FIRST OF SERIES OF "FINE FIRST AID" DISCUSSIONSA Large Number Listened To Description of Symptoms and Treatment For Different Kinds of Poisons

A large number of the members of the local police force listened to the first of a series of instructive talks on first aid, given by Dr. M. A. Tighe, city physician in the guard room of the police headquarters yesterday afternoon. The subject of yesterday's discussion was "Poisons" and it proved a very interesting one to all present.

It is the intention of the authorities to have one of these lectures every other Sunday and they will be five in number. The great advantage of this knowledge to the police can easily be seen for their daily work is apt to bring them into contact with cases in which the information will be most helpful. With this knowledge of the treatment of certain accidents or emergency cases, the efficiency and value of the services of the local police force will be greatly augmented. Let it be understood that this lecture is of in-est to others than police officers and should be read by everybody.

Each of these talks will treat of a different topic and the next one will be given on Sunday, February 3. The substance of Dr. Tighe's lecture yesterday was the following:

I have been asked by His Honor, Mayor O'Donnell, the progressive head of this department and your immediate superior, our most efficient superintendent of police, Mr. Welch, to place before you certain common situations in which you may find yourselves and to impart to you briefly the knowledge which will enable you to properly handle such situations. We are living in an age of progress, an age that demands of each of us, no matter what your calling, you as well as I, the highest degree of efficiency. We are running a race in which there is no place for the laggard in thought or action. And so it is with this thought in mind, with the thought that I might help you along certain lines to raise your standards and increase your effectiveness to the community, that I have accepted with eagerness and alacrity the invitation to address you this afternoon. And I want to say in the beginning that throughout the year during which I have been in more or less close association with this department, I have observed none but a most humane spirit, towards those unfortunate whose acts have made them amenable to law and this is as it should be, for the policeman is no less the protector of the prisoner than of the outraged community, and in this connection always bear in mind that it is by no means a settled point that those who are habitually running afoul of the law are in possession of the mentality which makes them entirely responsible for their acts. It is not our intention to burden you with a lot of medical physiology and anatomy, but rather place you in possession of certain simple facts which will enable you to successfully meet the common emergency cases.

Poisons is the subject for this afternoon's discussion. A poison is a substance which either by its direct action upon the skin or mucous membranes or after absorption into the blood is capable of injuriously affecting health or of destroying life. Everything now depends on you. Keep your heads and remember that minutes, yes, seconds, are valuable. Survey the group hurriedly. Pick him or her who seems to be the most collected as your assistant. Despatch another for a physician. Make a hasty search for a vital container, which may give you a clue as to the poison taken. If you find such it will usually have a label. If not and the patient presents the following symptoms, you will know that carbolic acid has been the poison used:

1. Burning pain from mouth to stomach. Lips and mouth are white.

DR. M. A. TIGHE

2. There is seldom vomiting. 3. Patient breathes with difficulty. 4. Pupils are small. 5. There is dizziness, cold clammy skin and feeble pulse. 6. Urine has been voided it may be olive green. Your first aid to an individual presenting such symptoms will be milk in abundance, and a large drink of whiskey.

Sulphuric acid—1. Violent burning pain, extending from throat to stomach. Body is usually bent in an attempt to relieve the pain. 2. Vomiting. Vomitus is frothy, coffee ground like in substance, mixed with blood. 3. Mouth and lips are first white, but very shortly become brown. 4. Great difficulty in breathing, face is usually blue. 5. Great thirst.

Nitric acid. The symptoms are the same as in sulphuric acid poisoning, e. g. Violent pain in throat and esophagus, vomiting, lips and tongue excoriated, difficulty in breathing, except that in the latter, the vomitus is yellow instead of brown, the lips are citrine yellow in color.

Oxalic acid, often times mistaken for Epsom Salts.

Symptoms. 1—Burning acid taste immediately. 2—Violent bloody vomiting. 3—Cold sweats. 4—Blueness of extremities. 5—Convulsions.

If the poison is well diluted, convulsions are apt to be the most prominent symptom. Before going into the treatment of these acid poisons, let us pause a moment to consider a fact which will make the treatment of these conditions more understandable. In chemistry, we have chemical bases which neutralize acids. These bases are called alkalis. So that if we have acid poisoning, the logical thing to do is to put into the stomach or on to the part poisoned an alkali, so that the acid may be rendered neutral or inert. Lime is an alkali. If you find a person suffering from acid poisoning, break some of the plaster from the wall or ceiling, dissolve it in water and give it to the patient, and conversely if caustic potash, caustic soda or solution of ammonia be the poisons, give the patient vinegar or lemon juice, in water.

Phosphorus poisoning. Rat paste contains 3 to 4 per cent yellow phosphorus. Fat, sugar flour and Prussian blue rubbed into face and hands to produce blue flame. Hydrogen peroxide in teaspoonful doses, well diluted in water.

Iodine, owing to color and smell, seldom used for homicidal purposes, due to taking tincture or liniment by mistake.

Symptoms. 1—Burning pain in throat, mouth and stomach. 2—Vomiting and heartburn, vomited matter either yellow or brownish. Color of iodine may be blue or black. If any starch food in stomach. 3—Great thirst, headache and feeling of faintness. 4—Coldness of surface and small, feeble pulse.

Treatment. Emetics of warm water, followed by mixture of starch and water. Barley water.

Arsenic. Common containers. Fly powder, certain weed killers, arsenical soap, used sometimes for preserving the skins of birds and animals. Symptoms of arsenical poisoning have been known to occur from keeping such stuffed birds or animals in dwelling rooms.

A mixture of carbonate of soda and white arsenic is sometimes used to clean steam boilers and is very dangerous. The drug has been employed for producing a glaze upon fancy paper, note paper, cardboard boxes, and playing cards. It is employed in glass making, and white enamelling, used in rat paste, glazed leather linings or hats. The ordinary silk coat sleeve lining and ordinary silk coat sleeve lining and nature lining have been found to contain arsenic.

Scheele's green, a coloring agent, contains poisonous amounts of arsenic and is sometimes used in cheap green wall paper, book covers, lamp shades, artificial flowers and leaves, green candles, wax tapers, India rubber balls and dolls, japanned goods, tablecloths, carpets, floor cloths, linoleums, printed calico, cretonnes, chintzes and green tulle and many other substances into which time does not allow us to go.

In acute arsenical poisoning the condition which you may meet, a weak mixture of mustard and water should be administered.

Corrosive sublimate, also known as bichloride of mercury, is a poison which is taken quite frequently with suicidal intent.

The symptoms are: 1—A strong metallic taste. 2—Feeling of constriction and burning heat in throat and stomach. 3—Vomiting and pain in abdomen. 4—Vomiting of slimy masses and frequently blood. 5—Purging, blood in stools. 6—Cold, clammy skin, syncope and small irregular pulse. 7—Suppression of urine.

Treatment. Tablespoonful of flour in a tumblerful of milk. If you are so placed as to be able to wash the whites of raw eggs may be used. If at the end of 15 minutes you are still in charge of the case, a weak solution of warm water and mustard should be given the patient.

Creolin, Chloral Hydrate (knockout drops), Opium, Potassium Acid, Strichnine, Cyanide of Potassium. The recognition of the symptoms and the first aid indicated in poisoning from the above will also be discussed. Poisoning by creolin is not uncommon. This is a proprietary product from coal tar elements prepared under a secret process and consequently its true constituency is not known. It should be induced by administering an emetic of mustard and water.

Chloral hydrate or "knockout drops" is the one drug which is probably more frequently used than any other by certain types of criminals in the plying of their trade. To illustrate by a concrete example: A certain man, not always a young man either, decides to show himself on the quiet, peaceful haunts of his home surroundings to where the lights are bright and where the tinkling of glasses and the popping of corks is the music that promotes the thought that everybody is a good fellow. He meets Jack Slick, whom he has never seen before, who slaps him on the back, calls him a sport and a devil of a fellow and asks him to drink. But our friend would not think of letting such a fine friend as his new-found friend Jack pay. He unfolds his bank roll, strips a bill off and grandiloquently calls up the house. The curtain is lowered on this scene of conviviality and in the second act, if you find a man lying in some dark alley, whose breathing is slow and labored, or quick and shallow, whose pulse is small and feeble, whose face is livid or extremely pale, whose pupils are small and do not move upon opening the eye, and whose body is cold and clammy, and who has not a cent or a valuable thing on his person, it is a fair assumption that he is a real or "knockout drops" has found his way in some mysterious manner into his stomach. Give such an individual an emetic of mustard and water. After he has vomited, if obtainable give him a hot drink of strong black coffee, and if breathing has ceased, perform artificial respiration.

Opium poisoning is the most important nikotoid of opium and the form of opium which is most frequently used for suicidal or homicidal purposes. In acute morphine poisoning, there is a short period of pleasurable mental excitement, accompanied by a flushed face and increased brilliancy of the eyes.

The common depression, headache or a feeling of oppression in the head, drowsiness, stupor and complete insensibility which may pass on to coma. Before the insensibility has become complete, you may arouse the individual by a loud noise, but he speedily relapses into a state of stupor.

The breathing is at first hurried, later becoming slow, irregular and snoring. Skin cold and moist. The moisture of the skin is characteristic. Morphine arrests all the secretions of the body except that of the skin, which is apt to be excessive. In the early stages the pupils are small and light has no effect on them. In the later stages the pupils are large and still insensible to light. This is an especially bad sign, as it indicates widespread muscular paralysis. This is a poison in which it is particularly necessary to empty the stomach, because after the poison is absorbed it is again re-excreted into the stomach. Unless the stomach is emptied, symptoms from the reabsorbed poison will continue to have poisonous effects. Give the patient an emetic of weak mustard solution. Give him hot black coffee. If your patient's breathing has become irregular or has stopped, do artificial respiration. You will find many books which will recommend that you walk the patient around from time to time, shake him or strike him. Do not do this for your treatment exhausts the vital powers.

Cyanide of potassium. Act rapidly. One to two minutes at most; rapid loss of muscular power; dizziness and person falls to ground, insensibility rapidly intervenes, gasping breathing, may cease for a few seconds and person appears to be dead when another convulsive breath may occur. Mustard and water emetic, artificial respiration, cold water on face, back and neck.

The signs of death and asphyxia will be the subjects of our second discourse. There will be a practical demonstration of artificial respiration.

Asphyxia, hanging, drowning, throttling, suffocation, strangling.

In our third conference we will consider the distinction between alcoholic intoxication and the various diseases which may simulate it, so that the policeman may be able to tell a sick man from an intoxicated one, and act accordingly.

Our fourth conference we will consider surgical first aid, temporary dressing of wounds; how to apply a tourniquet; how to improvise a tourniquet; application of temporary splints; how to apply them in cases of broken legs, arms, etc.; first aid in burns, scalding.

The subject of the fifth conference will be first aid from electricity; injuries from lightning; injuries from cold; injuries from starvation; their recognition and first aid.

INVESTIGATION OF SOCIAL EVIL

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Says Man is Responsible for Vice in This Country

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Man, not woman, is responsible for the organized commercial social evil in this country, in the opinion of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. "It is a man's business run for profit, and the profit is large."

These views are expressed in a statement of Mr. Rockefeller made today giving further details of the work of the bureau of social hygiene, through which Mr. Rockefeller and other philanthropists hope to attack and alleviate conditions which he considers the "greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race."

"The idea to establish a perpetual organization to cope with the social evil in this city," says the statement, "was the outgrowth of my service of six months as chairman of the special white slave grand jury appointed in New York city at the beginning of 1912. I came at that time to realize the extent and horror of the evil and to believe that it constitutes one of the great and vital world problems of the day. In the judgment of eminent medical men it forms from the point of view of disease, the greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race. Therefore, as a result of conference with many people, the bureau of social hygiene was established."

Study of Vice Condition
Under the decision of the bureau George K. Kneeland, who conducted the investigation carried on by the Chicago vice commission has made a comprehensive study of vice conditions in this city and Abraham Flexner has spent nearly a year abroad investigating the methods of dealing with this problem in the leading cities of Europe. He will make further studies in a number of the larger cities of this country. As each of these studies is completed it will be published and it is hoped that the press and the public will be disposed to await the result of these studies before formulating conclusions.

"Thus far," Mr. Rockefeller continues, "the work of the bureau has been financed by its members and a few interested friends and this will continue to be the case until a larger and more formal organization is considered advisable. To its future financial policy it is not now necessary to give attention. As its needs grow, there are numbers of men and women in this city who, I am confident, stand ready to join in meeting them."

"The bureau holds itself ready to enter any field of investigation or work not already occupied effectively by other organizations which seems likely

BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH

Watertown, Child Killed in Front of Home

WATERTOWN, Jan. 27.—Thomas Collins, Jr., the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Collins of 59 Arsenal street, was run down and killed by an inbound electric car in front of his home about 2 yesterday afternoon. The car tracks at that point are very close to the sidewalk, and the little boy ran out from his yard and into the side of the car. His head struck the compressed air tank and he was knocked down on the tracks. The wheels did not go over him, but rolled him along for a considerable distance, crushing him in the opinion of Medical Examiner George L. West, killing him almost immediately.

The car was in charge of Conductor Paul W. Atwood and was operated by Abraham Wilfred L. Philie of 1 Capitol street. After the boy's body was removed, they did not wait but continued on their trip to Central square, Cambridge. When they returned to Watertown, Philie was taken to the police station.

Philie said that he did not even know the car had struck the boy until he heard people crying out and he was corroborated in this by Charles Corrigan of Royal street, the only eye witness of the fatality. He was therefore released, although some criticism was expressed at the crew's failure to wait for the arrival of an officer.

MOROS KILL U.S. OFFICER

And 6 Scouts in Fight—Others Injured

MANILA, Jan. 27.—A wireless dispatch from Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the department of Mindanao, gives details of an engagement which occurred on the morning of Jan. 23 at Taglibat between Moros and detachments of Philippine scouts and the constabulary.

Capt. Patrick McNally and six enlisted men of the scouts were killed. Lieut. William Townsend of the scouts and Lieut. Cochran and Lieut. Whitely of the constabulary, and 10 enlisted men were wounded. The wounds of both Townsend and Cochran were serious.

The bodies of the killed were buried at Augur barracks.

PORCESES A NEW WAR

Lima Newspaper Fears Peru and Bolivia Will Fight—Latter Wants a Pacific Port

LEMA, Peru, Jan. 27.—The Union, in an alarming editorial yesterday, declares that Peru seems inevitably to be drawn into a new war.

This conclusion is drawn from Bolivia's recent warlike preparations and the expressions of Gen. Ismael Montes, Bolivian ambassador, and other Bolivian officers in Paris. Bolivia's ambition is said to be a port on the Pacific.

Tewksbury Grange

The Tewksbury Grange will hold a meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 4, and a most interesting contest for cash prizes will be held in connection with the meeting.

All of the pupils of the town will be invited to be present. Listen to the evening's business and entertainment, and then present a written report on the meeting. The paper will be sent in to the grange at the next meeting two weeks later, and will be judged.

WAVERLY LODGE SESSION Y. W. C. A. CONTESTS

Held Meeting and Social Add to Membership—Hour Yesterday Coming Events

Waverly Lodge, Sons of St. George held a regular meeting in Odd Fellows Temple and transacted a large amount of routine business with President John W. Andrews in the chair. Frank J. Orrell resigned his position as pianist and the members unanimously elected John Higginbottom in his place.

Before the session of the members of the lodge, the auditing committee convened to audit the books of the retiring treasurer and presented their reports at the meeting which followed. The sick committee also reported. There were received two applications for membership and these were referred to the committee in charge of the work. The degree staff is expected to begin rehearsals soon.

A letter from District Deputy Thomas Smith of Lawrence was read, stating he could not be present to install the new officers, and expressing his regrets and he delegated P. G. P. John Orrell to officiate in his place. P. P. Albert Shepard was duly inducted to the office of treasurer for the remainder of the term.

After the business session a social hour and entertainment was enjoyed and whilst the members were engaged in piano selections and several of these present spoke on matters relative to the good of the order.

NORTH BILLERICA

The "Old Timers" of North Billerica met at the Richardson hotel, Lowell, Saturday evening, and after enjoying an elaborate banquet they permanently organized for the coming year. The organization is to be called the "Old Timers" and its object is to encourage social meetings among those who were prominent here in social affairs some years ago. Meetings of the club will be held monthly, the dates to be made known at the next meeting.

The officers elected were: Miss Nellie C. G. Farley, president; Miss Hannah C. G. Farley, secretary; Miss Dorothy Farley, treasurer. It was announced that $50 had been presented to the Father Mathew Total Abstinence society. The above sum is the greater part of the proceeds from the dance held recently.

A musical feature of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful cut glass bowl to Mrs. Mary C. G. Farley, as a slight token of appreciation for her work in forming this organization. A social hour was then enjoyed by all present.

The Progressive club of Billerica is to hold an open meeting at its headquarters in Lunnet hall, Billerica Centre, this evening at 8 o'clock. A guest speaker from the progressive headquarters will be present and it is requested that the women as well as the men be present.

SHOTS STOP HIS FLIGHT

Joseph Salin Arrested at Lynn—He and Joseph Moro Charged With Mutual Assault

LYNN, Jan. 27.—After several shots had been fired from along Pleasant street last night in pursuit of Joseph Salin, a Pleasant street resident, who had been involved in a fierce street fight with Joseph Moro of Vivian place, it was found necessary by the officers to send two bullets whistling close to Salin and they served to bring his flight to a sudden end.

When the officers started after him they believed that Moro had been badly injured, for he lay unconscious upon the sidewalk and a long bladed knife was found by his side. A big crowd had gathered and when the officers approached Salin ran toward the common. He had quite a start on the patrolmen and he was in a fair way to escape when the whistling of the bullets just over his head caused him to surrender.

When the police got the men in the Sutton street station they found no knife wounds upon either. Both were covered with blood and they were locked up for mutual assault.

FELL INTO RIVER

Louis Levesque Pulled Out in Fitchburg and Arrested on Charge of Drunkenness

FITCHBURG, Jan. 27.—Louis Levesque, 53 years old, was locked up at the Central police station late last night on a charge of drunkenness after he had had a narrow escape from drowning in the Nashua river.

The police said Levesque was on his way home and that he evidently lost his balance while crossing a foot bridge near the Hollow Mill and plunged into the water head foremost. His cries for help attracted Patrolman Hanley, who pulled him out and after reviving him somewhat sent him in an ambulance to the station, where he was treated. He showed bruises about the face. He said he lived at 47 Hartford street.

MATHEWS INSTITUTE

To Have Series of Six Lectures by Rev. Dr. Kelleher, Pastor of St. Peter's Church.

A largely attended meeting of the members of the Mathews Temperance Institute was held at the hall in Clinton street with President Guthrie in the chair. Three members were initiated and routine business was transacted. On recommendation of the trustees it was voted to close the rooms on Tuesday night for the members and turn them over to the committee in charge of St. Michael's reunion.

The following were elected to serve on the building committee for the coming year: John J. Guthrie, Peter P. Brady, Thomas E. Teague, James J. Gallagher and James F. Roarke.

A series of lectures will be given by Rev. Dr. Kelleher under the auspices of the literary committee, the subject to be on ecstasies.

TAKEN FROM CANAL TEACHING THE YOUNG

Body of George Boisvert Recovered. Innovations in Educational Lines

Are you teaching your small children how to read and spell? Here's a new method recently put to use by a Boston teacher. Any method could easily use it.

The children being taught are five or six years of age, and instead of learning the alphabet each one becomes a living letter. Instead of studying, these children spend their time in playing the game of "putting the letters together." All children like to give individual sound a living personality.

In this school they call the consonants "cousins" and the more difficult vowels the "five little short brothers." The "five long brothers" represent other pronunciations of the vowels.

For these various long brothers, because the children find them harder to understand, the teacher has arranged a color scheme. The children representing them wear different colored coats. The child who represents "out" wears a green coat because the pigeons that coo live in green trees.

With these living letters the children work out whole stories, each child stepping into place as the word is given. The result is said to be most satisfactory, not only in teaching the children in a wonderfully short time, but in making them eager to learn.

Since the little folks like to "make believe," mothers might adopt the suggestion to good advantage, especially those mothers who do not care to send their children to school.

WESTFORD WATER COMPANY
Hold Annual Meeting and Elected Officers—Report of the Managers Shows Great Progress

The annual meeting of the Westford Water company was held Saturday afternoon and the election of officers, which was held, brought the following result: George T. Day, president; Sherman H. Fletcher, manager; Alonzo H. Sutherland, superintendent and engineer; Julian A. Cameron, John C. Abbott, directors; Charles O. Prescott, clerk and treasurer; Charles F. Kellogg, auditor.

It was reported that 35,911,271 gallons of water had been pumped during the past year to supply the town at a cost of $815.25. The report of the manager shows that in the last year 605 feet of four-inch pipe have been laid in Granville, the extension being made to connect the main that was laid across the arch bridge over the Stony Brook railroad.

Cabinet Dropped Franchise Bill
LONDON, Jan. 27.—The British cabinet today decided to drop the franchise bill in deference to the speaker's ruling that the form and substance of the measure would be so materially altered if the amendment granting the vote to women were adopted that it ought to be presented in the shape of a new bill.

NO MORE CONSTIPATION

It's Me for Olive Tablets!

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

Your Pocket Knife is the Key to a Better Smoke

Cut each pipe-load fresh from a good plug just before you smoke and you'll be repaid by a sweeter, slower-burning, cooler smoke than you ever got from a bag or tin of tobacco, no matter how much you paid.

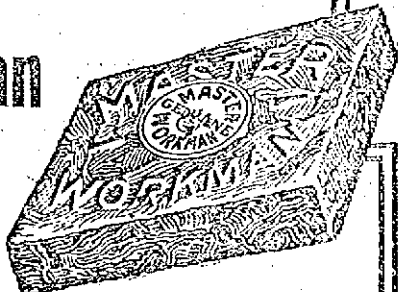

Real Tobacco flavor depends on the moisture in the leaf. The only way to keep all the moisture in tobacco, from factory to pipe, is to press the choicest leaves into a plug and protect it with a natural leaf wrapper.

Tin cans cannot retain all the moisture and flavor in sliced or granulated tobaccos as it is bound to dry out. Dry tobacco smokes fast and hot and burns your tongue.

When you once smoke Master Workman Plug Tobacco and find how evenly and slowly it smokes and learn how good real tobacco flavor tastes, you will always cut your own tobacco fresh from the plug. Buy a plug of Master Workman today and try it for your next smoke.

Question of Succession to Throne is Worrying Russian Empire---Grand Duke Alexis, is Very Nervous

THREE RECENT PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE CZAREVITCH.

"He has the extreme nervous activity often seen in children who are not destined to live long." So runs the recent statement about the Grand Duke Alexis, only son of Emperor Nicholas II. of Russia. It is a statement fraught with tremendous possibilities. Despite the spread of republican ideas throughout the earth, penetrating even the most recesses of "darkest Russia," the occupant of the throne of the big empire is and will be for many years to come a very important figure.

The institution of the duma and ministerial government in Russia has not lessened the potential personal might of the czar. He is still "emperor and autocrat of all the Russias," czar of Moscow, Kiev, Vladimir, Novgorod, Kazan, Astrakhan, of Poland, of Siberia" and of a score of other lands, besides lord and sovereign of a hundred cities. It takes eleven lines of close small print in the Almanach de Gotha to tell his titles, and even then they wind up with the significant "etc."

The Grand Duke Alexis was born July 20, 1904, in the palace of Peterhof. He is the fifth child and the only son of the Emperor Nicholas and the Empress Alexandra. The latter bore her marriage in 1894 was the Princess Alix of Hesse, granddaughter of Queen Victoria of Great Britain. The birth of the czarvitch was made the occasion of wonderful rejoicings throughout Russia.

From all accounts of persons who have been permitted to see the Russian royals at close range, the young prince is a spoiled, but very bright youngster. He has been permitted to lord it over his older sisters and has not proved amenable to correction even by his parents. Of course discipline by governess or tutor of the heir to the second mightiest throne on earth has been out of the question. But in extension of the misbehavior of the czarvitch many amusing stories of his brightness and quickness of wit are told. For example, it is said that a recent meeting of the emperor with some of his counselors was interrupted by the intrusion of the youngster, who burst into the room to tell his father that his sister Tasia (Anastasia) had walked home. Being reproved by the emperor for interrupting a grave matter of business, the boy left the room, to return in a few minutes wearing the uniform of a general in the Russian army. Giving his father a military salute, the boy said gravely:

"Sir, I have the honor to report that her imperial highness the Grand Duchess Anastasia has had the boldness to strike a general in your majesty's army." And with that he marched gravely out of the room.

Next in order of succession to the Grand Duke Alexis comes the only brother of Nicholas II., the Grand Duke Michael. But Michael recently renounced his right to the throne. He has joined the growing ranks of the royalists who prefer love to the burdens of the crown. He is married morganatically—that is, his marriage is recognized by the church, but not by the state—to a lady of non-royal rank. The recent birth of a son induced him to seek retirement on his country estates. He has never had much taste for the life at court and has virtually given up all his privileges.

After the Grand Duke Michael in the line of succession come the three sons of the late Grand Duke Vladimir, brother of the assassinated Emperor Alexander II. They are, in order of age, Cyril, Boris and Andrew. None of them is popular in Russia.

found floating in the Merrimack river yesterday, and which at first was thought to be that of John Dubrell of this city. Mrs. Dubrell of 59 Front street, this city, was notified of the finding of the body and in company with two friends called at the Haverhill morgue, but failed to identify the body as that of her husband.

The woman's failure to identify the body and the discovery of a pass book issued to John Dubrell, who disappeared from his home over two months ago, is a rather embarrassing puzzle to the Haverhill police.

Dubrell has been missing more than two months and the police believe that if the body being held awaiting identification had come down the river from Lowell it would have been bruised in going over the falls at Lawrence.

The body is that of a man about 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches in height, brown hair and brown eyes and weighing 150 pounds. He wore a black coat and vest and gray trousers with a fine black stripe. A sockbook containing $70 in bills was also found in the clothes. The body will be held for a few days by the police.

Miss Margaret McGilroy of Somerville, Mass. was marshal of the staff, and performed her work very effectively, while the other young ladies who took part were exceptionally well drilled. The degree staff included the following: Misses Nora V. Kelly, Mary J. O'Shea, Rita H. Selix, Eileen M. Loran, Maude B. Smithwick, Margaret E. Grover, Josephine G. Keefe, Mary A. Carberry, Nora Glynn, Mary Conway, Mary E. Sullivan, Mary V. Hodder, Nellie E. Hackett, Mary C. Hannigan, Nellie Carberry, Margaret C. Fitzpatrick, pianist; Miss Marion F. Selix, manager; Mr. Michael J. Smith, and director, Joseph H. Kelley.

The following were installed as officers: Chief ranger, James P. Daley; past chief ranger, Henry O. Miner; vice chief ranger, Arthur Miner; recording secretary, Denis McCloskey; financial secretary, Percy Constantine; treasurer, John F. McManis; senior conductor, Frederick Reilly; junior conductor, Michael Donnelly; inside sentinels, Michael McPhillips; outside sentinels, George Stanley.

After the installation there was an address by Rev. Edmund T. Schofield, pastor of St. John's church, and chaplain of the court, who paid an eloquent tribute to the order, its beneficent work, and the devotion of its members to the interests of the poor, the needy, the widows and orphans.

The other speakers of the afternoon were: Dr. James J. Hoban, the court physician; Treasurer John F. McManis, who was first chief ranger of the court; Arthur McCullough, of St. Brandon court, No. 128, West Springfield, and D. H. C. R. Thomas O'Rourke.

Following the speeches, Chief Ranger James P. Daley invited those present at a luncheon which was served in the lower hall. The affair lasted until about 5 o'clock.

The Middlesex County Training School reopened this morning, after being closed for several weeks, on account of the scarlet fever epidemic. Last Friday afternoon, near the school's worsted mills, there was a collision between an electric car and a Boston automobile. The machine was slightly damaged and its front lamps broken, but the owners decided to keep on their journey and make repairs later.

At the last meeting of the standing committee of the Congregational church, at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Crowell, considerable financial business was transacted and plans were made to improve the social rooms connected with the church.

CORSAGE BOUQUET OF RIBBON FLOWERS, GREATLY APPRECIATED

DAINTY LITTLE RIBBON FLOWERS

There is not a woman in the land who can sew or who is in any way clever with the needle who will not enjoy looking for herself or her friend a dainty corsage bouquet of ribbon flowers.

These are perhaps the most attractive ornaments now for many's gowns and hats, and being hand-made they are greatly to be desired.

From the illustrations you can gain a good idea of how these lovely items should look after they are finished. All that is necessary for you to do is to supply yourself with the materials, needle and thread and the task of making them will soon be accomplished.

For coat bouquets to wear with the tailored suit the old fashioned Gowers are most liked. The tight little bouquet, consisting of Jack rosebud, surrounded with mignonette and set in paper lace fringe is deliciously quaint. It is seen among the cuts.

Very graceful, too, is the ornament

POSTOFFICES TOO SMALL

Lack of Room for the Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—If the wishes of Postmaster-General Hitchcock are carried out, congress will make provisions for the alteration of the plans of postoffice buildings to provide ample space for handling parcel post business. Since the parcel post was put in operation it has been found that few of the postoffices throughout the country are properly equipped for it.

There will be a number of new postoffice buildings erected throughout New England in the near future. Plans for some of them have already been drawn and will have to be altered if Mr. Hitchcock's scheme goes through.

In the entire country at the present time there are 154 public buildings under contract and 233 additional have been appropriated for by congress, representing a total appropriation of approximately $30,000,000. The plans for these buildings having been prepared without regard for the establishment of a parcel post, it is necessary now to have changes made in their architectural construction in order that the incoming volume of mail may be handled to the best advantage.

There are 769 postoffices located in government buildings, and in most cases it will be necessary to make alterations on account of parcel post. In many instances the purchase of additional ground for the construction of annexes will be necessary.

With a view to getting this work under way as quickly as possible, Postmaster-General Hitchcock has invited the supervising architect of the Treasury department with his assistants to confer with the building committee of the Postoffice department and the special parcel post committee on the subject. Extra appropriations by congress will be necessary in most instances.

Live Bits of Sports

So they are trying to hang a "pro" on the premier Indian athlete! A man named Boyle of the Winston-Salem team of the Eastern Carolina League asserts that Jim Thorpe played professional ball against his team at Fayetteville, N. C., two years ago. Boyle claims to have recognized the Olympic champion through the medium of a moving picture showing the Brown-Charles football game.

The Eastern Athletic association certainly made some cleanup last night. Their make relay team beat the Irish-Americans over in New York. While the relay team was showing its class the B. A. A. hockey team completely outclassed the crack St. Nicholas club seven. In Boston at the C. A. C. games the two Harvard relay teams were taken into camp by the Hub club. Some going even for a club with the athletic pedigree of the B. A. A.

Charlie Rice again showed the classy splinters that a schoolboy is not always a junior athlete. They all look alike to the red-headed Powder Point schoolboy. Last night it was William of Tech who was humiliated by the boy from the Duxbury school. Frank O'Hara, the other scratch man, didn't have a look and local track followers, who have seen the old English high jumper perform here in Lowell, will bear me out when I say that he is good.

Concannon and Kempton have the record of being the two most agreeable rollers on the Crescent alleys. In the face of defeat these men always smile and say nothing.

Ralph Carnegie has had but two equals and no masters in the history of high school athletics when it comes to all-around gift education. Performances, as a football player Carnegie could give cards and spades to any of the men playing his position on the Greater Boston team. Heavy shouldered and deep chested, he carried his weight ahead of him when carrying the ball. Ralph was a hard man to stop in the open field as well as a touch line buck. His wide, straddling style of running, and very deceptive as several excellent quarterbacks found to their sorrow. As a track athlete the "Dracut wonder" beat the best of the talent which competed at the Paige street annex. His specialties were the sprint and weight events, although he was competent to turn over a good lead in most of the intermediate track sports. Carnegie was also a member of the hockey, baseball and basketball teams, making his school letter in more branches of school sport than any man before or since his time has done. Carnegie is one of the two men of recent years in high school athletics who, I would say, without qualifications, could make any college football team. "Nuff sed."

Harry McCormick will be signed by the Giants as a pinch hitter for the 1913 season—and held as long as his pinch-hitting streak lasts.

Del Galner of the Tigers has declared himself. He says that Sam Crawford and others need not work about covering first base, for he intends to do so himself all season in a manner to make Hal Chase and Stuffy McInnis take notice. Galner, who looked like one of the best first basemen in the American league before he was injured in 1911, says he is as good as ever and is prepared to start at a rapid clip when the spring training trip is on.

Old-time athletic followers will be glad to learn that Tom Burke, one of the greatest quarter-milers that ever pulled on a running pump, has signed up to coach Lehigh University track athletes. Burke, likewise, should prove a valuable man to Lehigh. He knows the track game from every angle, and Lehigh should gradually come into the limelight, especially with a strong relay team.

It was Tom Burke who ran that heart-breaking 200-yard race on the old Fair Grounds with Bernie Wefers. It will be remembered. Tom, at that time was at the height of his athletic career and Wefers had just stuck up his world's record in the 220-yard dash. Burke was certainly a great exponent of the old Chestnut Bank system and should have no difficulty in shining as highly in the other end of the game.

A new world's record was established in the international skating competitions Saturday at Christiania by Ole Mathisen of the Norwegian champion, who won the 10,000 metres in 17m. 36 3/10s. The former record, 17m. 46 3/10s, was made by Mathisen last year. The Russian, Ippoloff, finished second in 17m. 27 6/10s.

Convention Hall at Washington Being Enlarged For the Colored Inaugural Ball March 5

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Convention hall, where the Woodrow Wilson Negro Democratic league will hold an inaugural ball March 5, is being enlarged to accommodate 10,000 people. Gilbert B. Jackson, negro millionaire of Richmond, who is at the head of the league, is expected here soon to take charge of the arrangements.

Leading Washington negroes say that the turkey trot, the bunny hug, the buzzard lope, the jumbo wambo and the one-step dances will be permitted, while trained Southern negroes will do the old-time cakewalk. The local bands, one from Baltimore and one from Richmond, will furnish music.

The colored inaugural ball is not new to Washington. For almost 100 years the negroes have given such a ball. Generally these affairs have been financial successes.

Hundreds of republican negro office holders have turned democratic since November and are among the most enthusiastic supporters of Wilson. All of these new recruits are buying tickets to show their loyalty to their new party.

"I have voted the wrong ticket ever since the war," said "Jim" Harris, a Virginia negro.

WRESTLING ROOM

Jack Cunningham and Austin Callary Will be Instructors

JACK CUNNINGHAM

The new wrestling mat has been received at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and instructors Cunningham and Callary will begin their demonstration as soon as the room reserved for this sport is properly fitted up. This room is supposed to be on the defensive, as it is in the one in which Martin Flaherty, the boxing instructor, will give lessons several days each week.

DEATHS

HUNTINGTON—Charles T. Huntington died January 11 at Toledo, Ohio, in his 95th year. He is survived by his son, Rev. Charles W. Huntington, D. D., formerly of this city.

HAM—Mrs. Mary Jane Ham died yesterday at her home, 77 Cornhill street. She leaves one son, Frank B. Ham of Braintree.

CASEY—Miss May A. Casey died yesterday morning at her home on Essex street at 10 o'clock, aged 14 years and four months. After an illness of but two hours. She was the daughter of William and Mary Casey and was a sister of much promise. Besides her parents, she leaves one sister, Evelyn, and three brothers, Frederick, William and Walter.

CARRIGAN—Miss Rosa Carrigan, aged 16 years, five months, 23 days, a prominent member of the Children of the Church, died yesterday at the home of her parents, 28 Common street. She leaves her mother, Mrs. Severina Carrigan; two sisters, Eva and Bernadette.

CALLAHAN—Charles H. Callahan, a well known and respected resident of this city and a constant attendant at St. Michael's church, died this morning at St. John's hospital, aged 33 years. He leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Misses Mary J. and Annie Callahan. The body will be removed to his late home, 79 Lakeview avenue, this afternoon by Undertaker James H. McDermott. Funeral notice later.

HYDE—James E. Hyde, formerly of the city, died this morning at the Philadelphia Presbyterian church, aged 38 years. He leaves to mourn his loss a mother, two brothers, Daniel M. Hyde, John Hyde, and sister, Mrs. Michael Dineen, all of this city for burial by Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons. Funeral notice later.

FUNERALS

HALLAM—The funeral of Mrs. Amelia Hallam was held at her home, 30 Chambers street yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Craft, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. L. A. Roberts sang very beautifully, "Heathen Land," "Abide With Me," and "The Christian's Good Night." The honorees were Messrs. M. Blair, John David, James Ware and James Moylan. Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, under the direction of Undertakers Young and Blake.

LAURE—The funeral of Ruth D. Laure took place Saturday afternoon from the home of her parents, Harry W. and Ella C. Laure, 23 Harvard street. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles E. Doty, pastor of the First Evangelical church. Appropriate selections were sung at the funeral service by a quartet of four Sunday school mates, composed of the following children: Carrie Hill, Clara Knibach, Hazel Hill and Clara Donnelly. The burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

TINTES—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Tintes was held Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Undertakers Young and Blake, 33 Prescott street. The services were conducted by Rev. William Grandin, D. D., rector of St. Anne's Episcopal church. Appropriate selections were sung by Miss Barnard. The honorees were Messrs. W. H. Haslam, Geo. Packard, James Gordon, C. H. Hayward and James Newton. The burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, where the committee service was read by the Rev. Appleton Grannis.

Among the flowers were the following: Pillows from her husband; wreaths from William and son; Mrs. M. H. Thompson and daughter; Mrs. Thorne and daughter; Mrs. Edith and Mrs. Bess Rollins; Miss Mary Witherall and Kenneth Horn; wreath, River Side Social club; wreath, from her family; spray, Mabel and Charles; spray, W. J. H.

The funeral was under the direction of Undertakers Young and Blake.

two rooms are each 20 by 16 ft. and offer only first class equipment. The wrestling room will be provided with an eight hundred pound wrestling mat 16 feet square. This mat is filled with very heavy padding and covered with stoutest canvas, making the sport absolutely free from dangerous falls. The brick walls of the boxing room will be carefully covered to the height of a man's shoulders so as to avoid the danger of "skin burns."

The new billiard table is being used to good advantage by the members. The lighting scheme in the billiard and pool room is very attractive and greatly helps the players in making accurate shots.

Jack Cunningham and Austin Callary are the two men whom the athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. has chosen to act as wrestling instructors at the new gymnasium. These athletes are so well known locally that an introduction is hardly needed.

Austin Callary is a wrestler whose reputation is widely recognized throughout the country. He is a truly remarkable record. Callary started with Dick Casey, the old time mat artist, when nothing but a boy and trained hand and foot during his apprenticeship. Picking up points as he went along and being one of those fellows who says little but observes much, the young wrestler went up the ladder very quickly, and set it cannot be said that the newly appointed instructor over ducked a match. Meeting the best men of his weight from all parts of the country, Callary was either successful or fought his opponent to a draw.

A very amusing wrestling bout took place here several weeks ago. A wrestler named Barrett came to Lowell to throw Austin twice in a half hour. Within five minutes of the time the match started Callary threw the stranger with a series of lightning shifts. A large sized argument then arose as to whether the bout had been decided or not. Inasmuch as the referee read that Barrett must throw Callary twice in an hour and made no stipulation about Callary throwing Barrett it was finally agreed that the space of time named in the papers should be adhered to. Callary, while waiting on the mat, called to Barrett to come on. Barrett to class, pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat no less than a man. Barrett was supposed to be on the defensive, as it is in the one in which Martin Flaherty, the boxing instructor, will give lessons several days each week.

Callary has wrestled the top-notchers in his class. Notable among these was his contest with Oswald Crowe, champion of New York state, which was called a draw after two hours and a half of full grappling. The Lowell wrestler also wrestled a no-fall match with Plourde.

Jack Cunningham is a wrestler of strictly amateur standing. He took up wrestling simply for the love of the game and is a pupil of Callary's. These two men know about all that is known about wrestling and should prove a great pair of instructors.

4 EXPERT HORSEWOMEN

Will Gallop in Relays to Washington

IN THE SUFFRAGETTE MOVEMENT

They Will Figure in the Inaugural Exercises at Washington, in March

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Heralding the approach of the riding and marching suffragette cohorts, four feminine Paul Reveres will gallop in relays into Washington March 3rd with news of the progress of their sisters. Elaborate plans to welcome the couriers are being made. The four, all expert horsewomen, will be Miss Inez Milholland, who will lead the parade, Miss Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale, Miss Crystal Eastman and Miss Janet Burns of New York. They will be detached from the cavalcade of "petticoat cavalry" and telling women shortly after Baltimore is passed and at regular intervals will be sent off on dash to the capital to carry the news. The question of permission for the suffragettes to use on March 3 the stands being erected for the inaugural parade will be definitely decided today. Certain contracts have been agreed to push work on the stands if the concession can be obtained from the inaugural committee. The suffragette leaders are hopeful that before the day ends the necessary permission will be forthcoming.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED

Third One Taken During Month From Haverhill Found Abandoned on Revere Boulevard

HAVERHILL, Jan. 27.—Capt. Edward L. Shannon went to Revere this evening, where he recovered an auto valued at $1000 that was stolen on Summer street late Saturday evening. The machine, which was owned by Sherman H. Marshall, was left on the street early last evening by the owner while he was visiting at the Pentucket club. When he returned for it three hours later it was gone and he notified the police of the theft.

NEARLY SCORE ARRESTED

Mayor McLeod's "Cleanup" of Newport, R. I., Begins With Raid of Two Clubhouses

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 27.—The first steps in the campaign of Mayor William McLeod to "clean up" Newport were taken early yesterday in the raiding by the police of two clubhouses. Nineteen persons were arrested on charge of being present where gambling implements were found. Those arrested were taken into court yesterday, where three of them pleaded guilty and were fined. The others pleaded not guilty and were released on bail.

AUTOS REPORTED STOLEN

Three Complaints Made to Police in Springfield—One Machine Found Abandoned

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 27.—Three automobiles were reported to the police department last night as having been stolen between the hours of 6 and 10. Those owning the cars were Charles Tift, Fred A. Abbe and F. H. Sackett. Mr. Tift's car was later recovered on a side street, where it had been abandoned by the thief.

BOXING GOSSIP

Harry Clark, Jimmy Gardner's manager, was in town to take in the show last Friday night. He has just received his thousand, which he posted as forfeit money for match between "Our Jimmy" and McGorby, from the Garden A. C. along with the announcement that McGorby will not fight Gardner at Washington's birthday at the Madison Square Garden. Instead, he picked a poor second-rate in Hicks. Jimmy is still feared by the best of them.

It seems that the third match between Gilbert Gallant and Steve Kennedy is liable to materialize after all. A promoter in Manchester, N. H., has announced his willingness to place the bout before the club of that city in the immediate future. If Kennedy is in shape, which by the way, is a very hard thing to tell, he should beat the little Frenchman. Each has a decision over the other, however.

Governor Johnson of California must have some son. Because he weighed three pounds over the welterweight limit, Ernie Clark, the welterweight amateur champion out that way, refused to go on with him. If Johnson was soft pinking three pounds would never interfere with a game like that. The present champion must have a wholesome respect for young progress, Joe.

Joe Thomas has been matched to fight Leo Houck in a six-round bout in Philadelphia on Feb. 7. The reason for the short distance is the state law which limits all boxing contests to six rounds in Pennsylvania. Houck is a rugged boy, but he hasn't a chance to put Thomas out and I look to see Joe Thomas out him.

Will Meet in Lowell on Friday Night

Jimmy Gardner, president of the Lowell Social and Athletic Club, is running that organization in a most satisfactory manner and the members are elated with the cards that he is presenting for their entertainment.

This week's bill should prove one of the best of the season. There will be four bouts and all look exceptionally good. The main bout, of course, will be the banner number, and in this, Young Jasper of Boston will meet Bay Wood of Fall River. Both of these boys are well known here and their offering should be a hummer from the first vibration of the gong until the meeting is adjourned. Wood fought here a short time ago and he gave one of the best exhibitions of in-fighting seen in this city in many years. On that occasion he met Eddie Flynn, the pride of Lynn, and though the latter gave the Fall River product a hard battle, Wood worked the entire 12 rounds and was just as fast at the finish as when he started the bout. He is considered one of the best of the season.

best lightweights in New England and has met some of the fastest men in this section of the country. Since his last experience in Lowell, he has been resting at his home, but he has started training for Friday night's bout. Jasper is very popular here and has several bouts with Eddie Flynn and others will be recalled as shaming battles. His last bout in Lowell was with Flynn and after 12 lively rounds, a draw decision was given. Against Wood Jasper should show a better advantage than Flynn, owing to the fact that he fights more like the Fall River Lightning rod, Henry Myers of Charlestown, who put Young Delmont of Lawrence away at the local club on Jan. 17, will meet Young Carroll of Lawrence in the semi-final of eight rounds. Both are clever performers and their match ought to be lively. In the preliminaries Young Evans of Lowell will oppose Kid Williams of New York city and Kid Halpin of Lowell will meet Mickey Mulcahy of Worcester.

SOCIALISTIC TENDENCY

In the British Isles Says Sidney H. Whipple—English Government Considering Socialistic Bills

At High Street church last evening, Sidney B. Whipple, who has recently returned from Europe, expressed the opinion that England is on the verge of a social crisis. In part, he said: "It is the most serious condition of England, which are today driving the masses away from the churches. Fight as they will against the machinery which has crushed a helpless people into poverty, squalor and hopelessness, the churches can do little to encourage the workman until the social and economic conditions are first relieved."

"The average East Ender, born in want and nurtured in privation, has little joy in which to look forward during his life. Driven to death when he is fortunate enough to have work, and starving when he has not, but natural that he turns at every opportunity that offers to the nearest institutions that will take him in forgetting the sorrows of life."

"The first of these is the public house; the second is one of London's greatest assets, the open field. London abounds in parks and heaths, and it is small wonder that these lungs of the city, as they are so aptly termed, call the most desperate and wretched of men and women who have been confined and smothered the week to dirty, ill-ventilated and squalid workshops and tenements, when a day of rest affords them the opportunity."

"Under such conditions it is scarcely fair to expect men to listen to dogmatic utterances from a pulpit. On the contrary, he places himself to such a gloriously open place as Hyde park, there to listen with bitterness, to keen exposures of his condition, from the mouths of clever socialists."

"The rise of socialism in England has, during the last few years, been extraordinarily rapid. Today the industrial situation has arrived at such an alarming stage that, in order to check the demand of the workman for an economic revolution, the government is itself considering a flood of socialistic bills which will tend to create a new division of wealth. The first great bill of this type has been in operation now for a little over six months. It is known as the national insurance act, and will benefit over 14,000,000 people, or a third of the population of the country."

"Other bills already passed, include an old age pension act, a workmen's compensation act, and bills for the government ownership of telephones and other public utilities."

Threatened Lockout in the Clothing Manufacturing Industry in New York Not Put Into Effect

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The threatened lockout in the clothing manufacturing industry was not put into effect today but only a few employees reported for work. The clothing exchange will meet late this afternoon to consider what further steps shall be taken to settle the difference with the workers, who insist they will stay out until their union is recognized.

Many Lowell Residents Are Greatly Interested in the Warlike Attitude of Austria-Hapsburg's Head a European Figure of Much Importance

1.—Crown Prince Rudolf bridge in Vienna. 2 and 7.—Austrian infantry and cavalry. 3.—Archduke Charles Francis Joseph and his wife. 4.—Francis Ferdinand, heir to Emperor Francis Joseph (2) and 5.—Francis Ferdinand with his family. 6.—Capuchin church in Vienna, where the Hapsburgs are interred. 8.—Emperor Francis I. monument in Vienna.

Crown Prince Rudolf left an only child, the Archduchess Stephanie, who is married to Prince Otto of Wittelsbach, a member of a mediatized or formerly reigning house.

All Buried in Ancient Church

When the time comes for the laying away of the members of the house of Hapsburg their remains are interred in the ancient church of the Capuchins in Vienna. The ceremonies attending the burials have come down through the rich past of the house of Hapsburg, filled with the traditions and observances of centuries. Not like that attending the interment of a common mortal is the ritual which governs the funeral of a member of the house of Hapsburg. The members of the house are devout Roman Catholics, and the ceremonial of the church is followed with minute exactness, but with added features which had their birth centuries ago.

First the body lies in state for a prescribed time. When the day set for the funeral arrives there is a requiem mass in the oratory, after which the coffin is locked and the key is presented to the court marshal. The coffin is then taken in solemn procession to the ancient church of the Capuchins and is received there by the court marshal, the chief master of ceremonies of the imperial court and the father guardian.

The interior of the church is draped in deepest black, setting off with somberly the catafalque which stands in the center and is surrounded by massive candelabra. There is a pontifical mass, which is attended by the emperor, members of the imperial family, and their relatives from foreign lands, the dignitaries of the court, representatives of all the governments comprised in the dual empire, high officials of Vienna, Budapest and other cities, etc. After solemn observances that are hallowed by time the coffin, with its contents is taken to the vault, where it is delivered into the charge of the father guardian.

Just at present the rather warlike attitude of Austria is of great interest to the people of Lowell who are watching the course of events and dreading the possibility of a great European war. Charles N. Lurie, writing for The Sun and telling of the Hapsburg family now reigning at Vienna, the capital of the great Austrian empire, says:

The head of the Hapsburg family, reigning in Vienna over the dual monarchy of Austria-Hungary (with the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina, recently annexed) does not today wield powers such as those possessed by his ancestors in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. True, the world is larger now and newer empires have risen since the days of the mighty Charles V., sovereign of Spain, Austria, Germany, the Netherlands, emperor of the Indies and ruler of a dozen other countries. But he held a mightier scepter than do the successors to his titular honors, when the size of the known world then is compared to the earth as it exists today.

Nevertheless the successor of Francis Joseph on the throne of Austria-Hungary will be no mean monarch. Francis Ferdinand will have a potent voice in the councils of the nations, in virtue of his 50,000,000 subjects, inhabiting almost 300,000 square miles of territory and speaking a dozen tongues.

Lying compactly in the very center of Europe, with one of the mightiest armies on earth and with enough of a modern navy to make her presence on the sea respected, Austria-Hungary has held the scales with the warring Balkan powers in the one pan and the dissolving Turkish empire in the other. Her alliance with Germany and Italy gets a bulwark of mighty powers between France and Great Britain in the west and Russia in the east. Her proximity to the scene of action in the "near east" and the importance of her material interests in and around Turkish territory gave her a voice of authority in the peace negotiations in London.

When the report of the serious illness of Emperor Francis Joseph, following many similar announcements, turned the minds of the world to the heir to the throne, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, thoughts of the Turkish-Balkan situation were coupled with the natural interest attaching to the future transfer of the throne.

There can be no doubt that the peaceful tendencies of the old kaiser, who had experienced warfare in his younger years, kept his empire from opening the doors of the temple of war. But with Francis Joseph gone and Francis Ferdinand, a much younger man, without experience of warfare and with a soldier's training, on the throne, who could tell what course Austria-Hungary would take?

For an example of the predicted difficulties to beset the successor of Francis Joseph consider this: Would he be left free by united support in his own empire to seek wider fields of adventure beyond the Danube? Or would the vexed question of his morganatic marriage (acknowledged as such in Austria, but not in Hungary) rise to keep his energies at home? It is well known, of course, that the question of the succession to the Austria-Hungarian crown is involved in a maze of difficulties.

According to the solemn renun-tiation of Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife, his sons may not succeed to their father's honors. On the mother's side they are nonroyal and as such are barred forever from inheritance. But the Princess of Hohenberg, Francis Ferdinand's wife (on the "left" side), is an able, brilliant woman, ambitious for her children if not for herself. Will she be content to sit not on the throne itself, but on its lower steps, with her children still below? Or will she rely on the fact that Hungary does not recognize so unorthodox an anomaly as a morganatic marriage and gradually and insidiously press the claims of her elder son to succeed to his father's position?

If Francis Ferdinand Dies

While Francis Ferdinand lives and remains true to the oath of renunciation the question is one of theory rather than of actuality. But let Francis Ferdinand fall in battle—he is reputed a brave and able soldier and willing to lead his troops in person if need arise—or succumb to disease and the question will leave the bounds of mere theory and become one of very acute reality.

Next to Francis Ferdinand in line of succession to the throne—always barring, of course, the sons of Francis Ferdinand by his morganatic wife—is the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, nephew to Francis Ferdinand and son of the late Archduke Otto, who was the brother of Ferdinand. Otto died in 1905 and his honors went to his son, who is now in his twenty-sixth year. Charles Francis Joseph was married in 1911 to Princess Zita of Parma. She gave birth to a son on Nov. 20 last. This infant received the names Charles Francis Joseph Otto and thirteen others.

If Rudolf Had Lived

All this fuss about the Austrian succession would have been avoided if the only son of the old Emperor, Francis Joseph had not committed suicide or been shot by another in the hunting lodge in Meiringen on Jan. 30, 1889, and had survived to this day. Just how Crown Prince Rudolf came to his death has not been explained satisfactorily in the twenty-four years that have elapsed, although from time to time newspaper readers have been regaled with sensational accounts of the tragedy, each one purporting to be the only true and full recital of the facts. The generally accepted explanation of the affair is that Rudolf was so deeply involved with the Baroness Vatsera that he shot her and himself as the only way out of the mess. His death left the succession of the throne to his cousin, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, who was not then the morose husband of the beautiful Countess Sophie Chotek, later created by the Emperor Francis Joseph the Princess of Hohenberg, to signalize his approval of her marriage to his nephew. Francis Ferdinand is forty-nine years old and is the son of Archduke Joseph, another brother of Francis Ferdinand, who, under the name of Maximilian, ruled over Mexico as emperor for a few years until the insurgent Mexicans took his life at Queretaro in 1867.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Levelled Walls of Burning Building

FIREMEN WERE BLOWN THROUGH THE ROOF

Suffering From Loss—One Man May Not Recover—Loss Estimated at $50,000

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 27.—Fire which started yesterday morning in the factory of the Anderson Candy Company at 72 Orange street did $50,000 damage and nearly cost the lives of a company of the fire department. The blaze had but fairly started up through the three-story brick structure when a terrific explosion on the second floor levelled the solid walls on three sides of the building and injured six men of engine company 7.

Five of the men escaped with serious bruises, but the other, William Gill, is hovering between life and death at Mercy hospital.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery. George B. Niagara, treasurer of the candy company, says it was undoubtedly caused when the firemen turned a deluge of cold water on the hot ovens situated on the second floor. He says there was no explosive material in the building. Fire department officials, however, say this was impossible. The district chief denied that water was directed to the second floor until after the explosion.

Although the fire was under control an hour after the second alarm was sounded, it threatened the entire downtown section of the city. Adjoining buildings were damaged by the falling walls, but the fire was confined to the building in which it started.

Engine 7 was one of the first companies to reach the scene, and some of its men were climbing to the roof of the burning building when the explosion came, with a report that was heard throughout the business district.

The walls on three sides went down and the firemen were left hanging to the iron supporting beams. Shortly after these fell and the firemen were dropped from the second and third floors. George Davis and William Gill were of the few who were on the third floor. In the midst of bricks, lumber and iron, they were hurled to the roof of a one-story building at 73 Orange street. The force of the explosion was so great that they changed through the roof into the store below. Firemen on the street rushed in the door and rescued both men in an unconscious condition. Davis recovered consciousness shortly after and was taken home. It is said that his injuries are not serious.

Gill was much more seriously hurt, and it was several hours before the doctors said he would live.

Two low buildings near the factory were wrecked by the falling walls.

HALF MILLION DOLLARS

Saved in First 15 Days by Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Not only has the parcel post saved the people of the United States in the first 15 days of its existence more than a half million dollars, according to Senator Bourne, Jr., author of the law, but it has proved a hardship to the overworked letter carriers. Senator Bourne today announced that reports from 45 leading cities of the country, which produce almost half of the postal revenues, showed that during the 14 working days between Jan. 1 and 15 a total of over a million parcels, outgoing parcels, were despatched at a cost of $375,756, or about 7.7 cents a parcel.

KILLED HIMSELF BY GAS

Suicide Posted Sign, Stating Gas Was on

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Before August Tellman, a bookkeeper out of work and with an ailing wife, killed himself by gas today he thought of the safety of the other tenants of the house and posted a sign on the outside of his closed bedroom door. The sign read: "Open the window in the kitchen first and also the windows in the bedroom. The gas has been on since midnight under high pressure."

The policeman who found his body followed instructions.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Opera House
The Paul J. Rainey African Hunt pictures illustrate in detail the famous expedition of Paul J. Rainey, the well known Cleveland millionaire, who at an expenditure of over $250,000, conducted the greatest hunting party known in the world's history. Mr. Rainey, unlike other hunters in the past, penetrated the most inaccessible portions of Africa in search of big game, employed in his endeavors the aid of 100 American dogs. These dogs were first trained in hunting big game in the cane-brakes of Mississippi and Louisiana. Their wonderful courage so impressed Mr. Rainey, that he felt sure that the dogs would be able to hunt for him in Africa, and the story of the achievements of these dogs is told in a series of marvelous motion pictures, which will be seen at the Opera House all this coming week, commencing tonight. Among the many pictures taken is that of the water-hole, which is said by Prof. Osburn, president of American Museum of Natural History, and dean of the faculty of Pure Science at Columbia, to be the greatest contribution to natural science of the past decade. The pictures of the water-hole were taken after a photographer had spent three days in a tree, waiting for the animals to emerge from their jungles. Here are shown such animals of the jungle as zebras, elephants, rhinoceroses, giraffes, deer, monkeys, etc., who come down to the water hole to have their thirst and bathe.

Merrimack Square Theatre
There's nothing so good for anyone as a good laugh, and there's nothing so good as a good laugh as you laugh any better than Frank Bush, appearing this week on the all-feature bill at the Merrimack Square theatre. Mr. Bush is called America's greatest storyteller and is, without doubt, all the title implies.

Another offering which is also in the feature class is "The Franchise and the Man," as presented by the author, Charles Terrie, and company. Mr. Terrie's portrayal of Father Anthony is a brilliant feature of the supporting company is competent. Woodard's animals with Oscar, the man monkey, is an offering that pleases everybody. The company is well up to the mark while the Merrimack Square theatre, with its excellent singers, and their well known classical and popular song sets, is a first-class subject. "Kings of the Forest."

Keith's Theatre

Hardeen, who will be the star.

Nature's Remedies for Disease

Every fall in older times the family medicine chest was replenished with roots, herbs and barks, nature's remedies for disease. Supplies for home use were gathered from the forest, the meadow and the garden. The standard remedy for fever, the bill at the Keith theatre, this week, will be the most talked of individual in town. It is doubtful if any other one person in town is so capable of diverting attention as way as has Hardeen. What he does is so remarkable, and his manner of doing it so unique, that theatregoers will be sure to find him his work. Hardeen escapes from packing boxes, strait jackets, milk cans, manacles, leg irons and from any and all methods employed by the police in making fast prisoners. Hardeen is brother of Houdini, who appeared in this city some years ago and who escaped from a cell at the police station in 15 seconds. The two studied the fine art of breaking locks together when boys, but Hardeen decided not to follow the career of a performer. Hardeen's successes were so great in Germany and France that his brother decided to enter the business, and straightaway he became as pronounced a success as his elder brother. One of his first stunts was jumping from a bridge over the Ohio river at Louisville, Kentucky, a distance of 100 feet into the murky waters. He was handcuffed and had on leg irons. When he came to the surface of the river he was freed from all chains and bonds. Hardeen proved him the greatest performer in the world. An attempt will be made to have him jump into one of the cars here during his engagement in this city. In Lynn last week sailors brought a regulation strait jacket and handcuffs and leg irons from the police station. Hardeen, and from all of these Hardeen got free in five minutes. An impartial jury to sit in judgment on his work. He carries no force of violence, but depends upon his audacity to furnish him all the pleasures of the world. The remainder of the bill is bright and snappy. It will include "Lorraine & Bailey," in "The English Butler Sisters," Georgia Trio, Charles Weber, Hallen & Hayes, Fero, and Mabel Howard. Good seats may be secured for all performances during the week. The telephone number of the box office is 28.

Russia to Use War Autos

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 27.—Russia has willingly awakened to the utility of the automobile in war owing to the destruction of the clouds in the Balkans. Government agencies have experimentally equipped themselves and other agencies as to the possibility of establishing a factory in Russia on the basis of quarantined annual orders for freight and passenger cars and the taking over of the factory by the Russian government for its utilization in case of war. The Russian government has already ordered the purchase of 100 automobiles for the military purposes and the opening of a school for the training of automobile drivers. The army officers are further instructed of the latest steps in the matter.

SPRING HATS ARE BEING DISPLAYED IN THE MILLINERY SHOP WINDOWS

Spring hats are peeping out at the millinery shop windows, and one notes the favor shown to ribbons of all sorts and widths as trimming for these harbingers of the coming season. The sailor shape pictured is of rough blue straw smartly trimmed with ribbon in a matching shade.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common in young folks as well as those who are shut up indoors in winter time with a coal stove burning up the oxygen or emitting carbonic acid gas. This blood, or blood which lacks the red corpuscles, in anemic people may have been caused by lack of good food or by indigestion, or by poor digestion or dyspepsia. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart which is not heart disease at all, but caused by indigestion. Whatever the cause, there is just one remedy that you can turn to—knowing that it has given satisfaction for over 40 years.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Is a blood cleanser and a stimulant that starts the liver and stomach into vigorous action. It thus assists the body to manufacture rich red blood which feeds the heart—nerves—brain and organs of the body. The organs work smoothly like machinery running in oil. You feel clean, strong and vigorous instead of tired, weak and faint. Nowadays you can obtain Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Tablets, as well as the liquid form from all medicine dealers or directly by mail, prepaid in $1 or $5 size. Address R. V. Pierce, M. MISS INEZ MILHOLLAND COMMON DANGER NEEDED

Will Lead Parade of the Suffragettes To Unite the Different Religious Sects

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Miss Inez Milholland, whose friends call her the handsomest suffragist, will lead the parade of the "votes for women" advocates in Washington, March 3. She will ride a handsome horse, and those who see her are expected to become ardent advocates of giving her six the ballot.

MISS INEZ MILHOLLAND

SERMON BY REV. CHARLES T. BILLINGS

He Discussed Church Unity and Co-operation Before a Large Congregation Yesterday

Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church, does not believe the unity of churches possible unless it be through the means of a common danger. In his sermon Sunday morning, Mr. Billings stated that each denomination has a pride in its own achievement, and some wishes to have its individuality swallowed up by a larger and different church. This, he said, is the danger of the "biggest" and "best" religion. "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity," he said.

"This thought was probably inspired by the Jewish festivals. To Jerusalem, where these were held, came Jews from every known country of the world. From Greece, Egypt, Asia Minor, Italy, the Jewish people, speaking various languages, but recognizing one God, came to unite in loyalty to their religion. It was the very highest influence in their life that brought them together and probably the only power that could."

"In our Christian sects today we have one God, one Christ, and, for the majority of the sect, one Bible. We are all looking to the same great truths and facts for inspirations and guidance. But the interpretation of these facts drives us far apart. Matters of organization, of creed, or ritual separate us, and no common beliefs unite us. No rites bring us together in praise and thanksgiving, no festivals call us together in worship of our God."

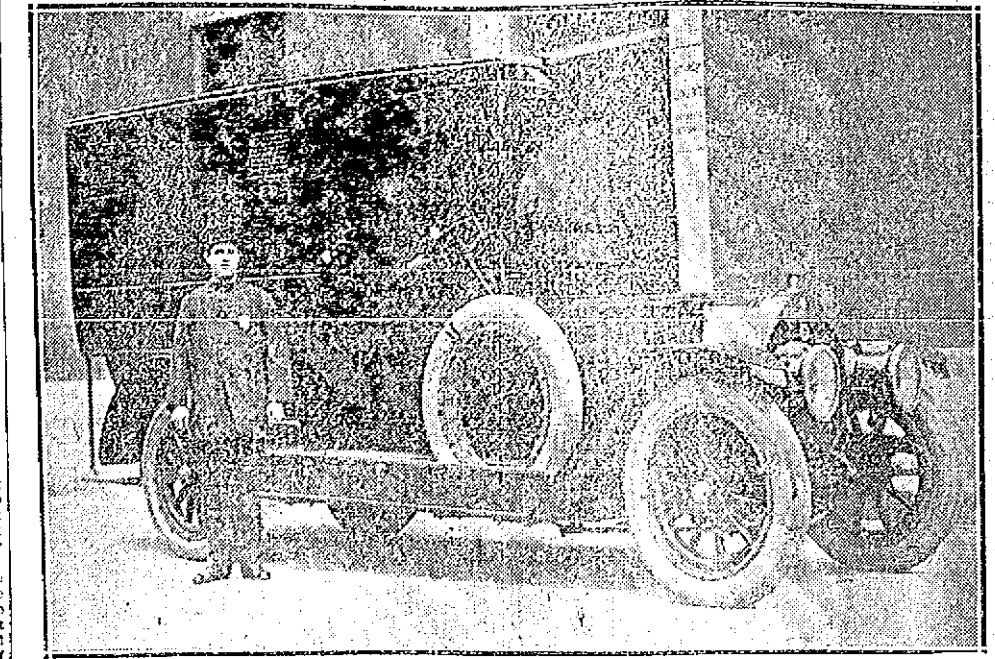

"And there is need in these days of getting together. The world is ripe for active service. It is a favorite topic for discussion. It is admitted as desirable. Plans are proposed, but little is done. Sometimes this is due to the fact that the plans are impracticable. A favorite proposal is that we should cease emphasizing our differences and unite on things we hold in common. But our differences are what we prize. They are the cause of our existence and the reason of our strength. Sometimes a single denomination for one reason or other has maintained advantages for uniting all Christian sects, and has offered to take all the other denominations into the light of these advantages and so make one church of Christendom. But such offers have not been taken very seriously beyond the bounds of the denomination that offered them. The denominations do not wish to be swallowed up. They still have a pride in their existence and their work."

Co-operation is almost as difficult as unity, and the Federation of Churches which has existed for nearly two years in our city, illustrates the difficulties with which we have to deal. In the very formation of the organization one church was not invited to come in. Three denominations declined to join it, and the interest that is real and hearty now exists but among the few. Some good work is being done, but pitifully small, compared with the work our churches ought to do together. Our great services of power do not unite us. We still are far apart."

"That which unites men most quickly is the menace of a common danger. In the wars of the world differences of tradition, race, sect, religion have been forgotten in the common cause. In the Civil war men of German, Irish and English descent marched side by side in the same company, and shared their sorrows, sufferings and joys. The negro, too, fought in the same cause; there was co-operation if not unity. In the absence of a common danger a given language is a great help to being men together. When Germany took Alsace and Lorraine from France, Bismarck insisted that

No More Smallpox
No new cases of smallpox have developed since. Resistant Dr. Gagne was removed from his home in Walnut street, Weymouth, a few days ago to the smallpox hospital in Chestnut street. Mr. De Gagne's wife and family are at the hospital, but have not contracted the disease.

THE POLICE AUTO PATROL OVERHAULED AND AS GOOD AS NEW IS AGAIN GIVING FREE RIDES

THE POLICE PATROL AGAIN IN COMMISSION—AS GOOD AS NEW

The police patrol automobile, a "Thomas Flyer," and a marvel of automobile construction, is once more ready for active service in the department after an absence of approximately two months, during which time it underwent a general overhauling in the meantime, the old "hurry-up wagon," drawn by one lone horse, was pressed into service to supply the place of the machine.

This automobile, a product of the Thomas plant in Buffalo, N. Y., is among the largest, best equipped and most efficient machines of the city. Moreover, it has a remarkable record for the time when it has been in use. The machine was turned over to the department by the agent of the manufacturing company on Dec. 31, 1910, after a trial run from Boston to this city, made in good time and without a flaw in the operation of the engine.

The ordinary automobile demands overhauling at least every year and in many cases following the traveling of each 1000 miles. Not so with the police auto, for it went through about two years of hard service and covered in all more than 13,000 miles without being gone over by the mechanics, and during that time, with the exception of the accidental stripping of a gear a year or so ago, it has been in perfect condition. It was not until Nov. 21, 1912, that the "Thomas Flyer" was finally committed to the garage for repairs and even then there was no marked defect in the mechanism. At the Moody Bridge Garage Mr. Ranger carefully went over each part of the engine and accompanying machinery and remedied whatever slight defect there may have been. At the same time the body of the car was given a thorough coat of very dark green paint, so dark as to appear almost black, the machinery was thoroughly cleaned; in short, the whole auto was given a general overhauling. It was returned to the department as good as new a few days ago and since that time has made one or two business calls, upon which occasions it has transported guests to the municipal hotel on Market street.

The police patrol auto is a combination ambulance, first aid car, and general police conveyance. It is, of course, a covered affair with two shuttered windows in either side and it is lighted by storage batteries by a switch under the driver's seat which connects with a dome light in the roof. The car will easily accommodate ten passengers and the running boards are made like chests, suitable for carrying two riot guns, revolvers, handcuffs, medicine chests and other articles of which there might be need on any one of its numerous trips. There is a large searchlight in front and the driver is protected by wind shields and covers to ward off the rain and snow.

Those in charge of the car at present are Messrs. Carl Noyes, Frederick A. Cotter and William C. Morse, and these men received a San reporter in the stable where the machine is kept and showed him the workings of the machine. The police conveyance of Lowell is truly a credit to the city and will doubtless render many more years of effective service.

the people of these countries, especially the children, be taught the German language, and Bismarck was right."

Cries Bring Woman Aid
BOSTON, Jan. 27.—The screams of Mrs. Catherine McCarthy, 65, at an early hour yesterday morning brought four patrolmen to her home, rear 131 Broadway, Chelsea, where she claimed that she had been attacked by a man. She says she heard a noise and lighted a lamp, which was at once blown out by a man who evidently became frightened by her screams and ran out of the house, leaving a derby hat in which were the initials J. H. J.

Later a man who gave his name as John J. Jennings and who claimed to live on Blossom street, Chelsea, was arrested by the police and was identified by Mrs. McCarthy as the man who attacked her. He will be arraigned before the Chelsea court.

Gypsy's Slave For Eight Years
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Startling charges that she was sold when seven years of age by an orphanage superintendent to a gypsy for $3000 and that for eight years she has served him as a slave were made to the police and by many officers by Alice Mitchell, 15 years old.

She declares she has since been compelled to pose as a fortune teller and dancing and singing girl, giving her earnings to the man and suffering frequent beatings.

Maine Governor Opposes Alkali Taken in Laboratory by Mistake

WATERTOWN, Me., Jan. 27.—Gov. William T. Haines said yesterday that he would prefer not to have Maine represented at present on a permanent conference of the heads of state commissions having supervision of railroads.

The announcement came in a letter to Gov. Eugene N. Fox of Massachusetts, and was in answer to a copy of the conclusions of the meeting of governors in Boston Saturday, called by Gov. Fox to discuss New England's transportation problems.

All the New England governors were present except Gov. Haines, who was ill.

MERIDEN, Conn., Jan. 27.—Judge James M. Platt of the United States district court died at his home here yesterday afternoon after a long illness of throat trouble.

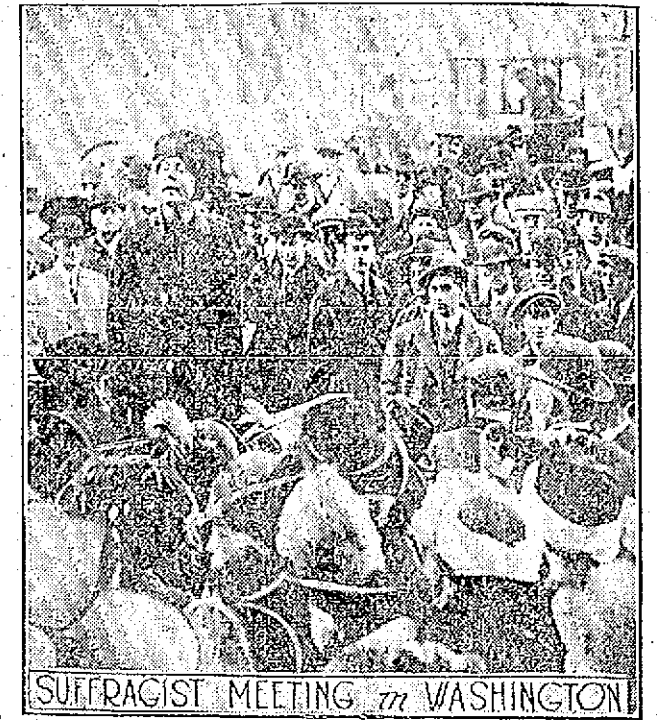

Alkali Taken in Laboratory by Mistake

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Colchicine, an alkali obtained from the fresh corn of the common meadow saffron, is believed to have caused the death of Edgar P. Billings, the Brighton chemist, who died suddenly Wednesday at his laboratory on Freeport street, Dorchester.

First Boston case
This is said to be the first case on record in Boston where this curious and little known poison has caused anyone's death. Minute doses of colchicine are sometimes administered to allay the pain and inflammation in cases of gout and rheumatism.

According to a statement yesterday

OPEN AIR MEETINGS IN WASHINGTON TO AROUSE INTEREST OF SUFFRAGETTES

SUFFRAGIST MEETING IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Local suffragists have planned a series of open-air meetings to arouse interest in the suffrage parade to be held March 3 in connection with the inauguration of President Wilson. Miss Lucy Burns, chairman of the parade committee of the National Woman's Suffrage association, is in charge of the meeting, and she is shown in the cut speaking to a crowd in the street, using an automobile as a rostrum.

of his sister-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Andrews, Mr. Billings had been experimenting with colchicine and took some by mistake for sugar while eating his lunch.

At the time it was reported that Mr. Billings was taken suddenly ill while automobile with his wife and died before assistance could be summoned.

Medical Examiner Magrath has sent the viscera from Mr. Billings' body to the Harvard Medical school for chemical analysis. It is understood that his official autopsy indicated that some very active poison caused the expert chemist's death.

Professors at Variance

Dr. R. L. Emerson of 133 Peterboro street, who is known as an expert on alkalies, said yesterday that colchicine is yellow in color and does not at all resemble sugar.

Prof. Augustus H. Gill of the Institute of Technology said that colchicine is a white crystal and glittering enough to very much resemble sugar.

Mr. Billings' friends have been unable to understand how a chemist of his ability and experience could make such a mistake.

Edgar P. Billings was formerly president of the chemical firm of Billings, Clapp & Co., 76 to 80 Freeport street, Dorchester. He had recently taken over the entire business and was well known as an expert in the utilization of various by-products. His home was at 12 South street, near the Chestnut Hill reservoir.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Isabella M. Billings, four sons and a daughter, and is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Charles E. Billings, of Franklin street, Newton. He was graduated from Harvard college with the class of 1893.

Taken For Sugar
Mrs. Andrews said yesterday to a reporter:

"Mr. Billings had been working very hard recently at his laboratory, and was home to dinner only every other night. Last Wednesday afternoon, when he was taken ill, I went in for him with the machine because Mrs. Billings, my sister, was not at home. "He told me he had taken some colchicine by mistake. He said he was eating his lunch and thought it was sugar. I got him home in the machine as quickly as I could, and we sent for a doctor. But it was no use. The doctor said he was dead."

In medicine, colchicine in small doses is used to increase the flow of the bile and diminish the heart's action.

Philadelphia Bankers Assn. Banquet
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—Nearly one-quarter of the banking resources of the United States, it is estimated, will be represented at the annual banquet of the Philadelphia Bankers association, which will be held here Wednesday night. Among the more than 600 guests will be many of those who have been witnesses before the money trust investigation committee.

Former United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, who will make his first public address since resigning from the senate, will be the principal speaker. He will respond to the toast, "The business man's duty to the state."

New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Baltimore and Washington will be represented among the guests.

ANOTHER BIG DEFICIT

Western Section of French State Railroad, operated by Government, runs deficit $13,914,785.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The report of the general manager of the French State Railroad, published in the official journal, shows that the service of the year 1912 resulted in a deficit of $13,914,785.

The total deficit for the service for the three years the railroad has been under control of the state amounts to $33,546,563.

COREY ON STAND AGAIN

Testified at Steel Inquiry

Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—William B. Corey, former president of the United States Steel Corporation, began this morning his fourth day of testimony in the hearing of the government's suit to dissolve the corporation.

The redirect examination was taken up by Jacob Dickinson, attorney for the government, who questioned the witness concerning his differences before his retirement with D. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors.

"Are you peculiarly interested in the United States Steel Corporation?" he was asked.

"One fourth of my fortune is in the securities of the steel corporation," replied Mr. Corey.

"Are your personal feelings favorable or unfavorable to the success of this suit?"

"I am naturally favorable to the steel corporation," Mr. Corey said. "I am opposed to the government in this case."

Mr. Corey reiterated his previous testimony that the object of the Gary directors to steel manufacturers was to maintain prices. Questioned about the efforts of some manufacturers to raise the price of steel rails from $25 a ton, Mr. Corey would not say that the influence of the steel corporation prevented the advance. "It may have," he said, "I was opposed to the raise myself because I thought $25 was a fair price."

He added that the corporation could make rails cheaper than its competitors.

Cross examined by C. A. Severance, attorney for the defendants, Mr. Corey testified that the parties of 1909 the steel corporation had refused to reduce the wages of its employees, although requested to by other manufacturers who had made reductions.

"We haven't gone into the question of labor," said Judge Dickinson, objecting on the ground that the question was irrelevant.

"No, you don't dare to," retorted the steel attorney.

After a few questions on the cost of making steel rails, Mr. Corey's testimony was concluded and recess was taken.

CRIME AND CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Are Bred in Garment Shops, Says Rep. Berger in Resolution, Requesting Investigation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Investigation of conditions in the garment working industry in New York was proposed in a resolution today by Rep. Berger, the socialist member from New York. The resolution would authorize the appointment of a special committee of seven members to inquire into the conditions surrounding the garment-making trade and the recent strike.

In the preamble of his resolution Mr. Berger sets forth that the New York clothing industry supplies the trade of a large section of the country through inter-state trade; that the wages in the industry are so low that "healthy surroundings and a decent standard of living have become almost impossible."

"It is further charged," continues the preamble, "that vice and crime are bred of the needless misery consequent to the manufacture of the nation's clothing, and, further, that said manufacture is carried on in filthy and unsanitary places saturated with germs of consumption, smallpox and scarlet fever and other contagious diseases."

Mr. Berger's resolution sets forth that clothing made under such conditions is a serious menace and danger to the welfare and health of all.

SAINT PATRICK'S DAY SECOND WEEK OF STRIKE

The Convention Delays B. & A. Men Still Firm in Action on Parade Their Demands

BECAUSE THE DATE FALLS IN HOLY WEEK.

Committee Appointed to Confer With Cardinal O'Connell as to Selection of Date for Observance

The delegates from the Irish Catholic societies met yesterday in the Irish hall in the second session of a convention to make arrangements for the celebration of St. Patrick's day and the gathering numbered in the vicinity of 150 from many organizations.

Because of the fact that this year St. Patrick's day comes during Holy Week, which was brought out in a letter from the cardinal read yesterday afternoon by Mr. William O'Brien, rector of St. Patrick's church, the motion was made to rescind the action taken at the session of the delegates two weeks ago, at which it was decided to parade on St. Patrick's day.

The cardinal, in his communication, expressed the wish that since at this time the Roman Catholic church is in mourning it would hardly be proper to have any demonstration of joy by the Catholic organizations.

Cardinal O'Connell also indicated that in case the parade were held after Lent, he would be glad to come to Lowell and review the procession.

An amendment was suggested to the motion to parade on March 15, the Saturday before St. Patrick's day. This suggestion was met with a cold reception and the motion was postponed until April 19, Patriots day. The latter was put to a vote and defeated. Then followed a long discussion as to the best date for the procession and it was finally voted to postpone action on the motion that it be held on the Saturday before St. Patrick's day.

A committee consisting of Mr. O'Brien, Chairman James McInerney, Patrick J. Mahoney, president of the Central Council, A. O. H., and Delegate James Ryan was chosen to confer with the cardinal in regard to the selection of a day for the celebration. The report will be made next Sunday. The meeting was then adjourned to next Sunday afternoon in A. O. H. hall.

ABUSE ON HONEYMOON

Woman Accuses Husband of Cruelty

RENO, Nev., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Becky Gertrude Waldman, the wife of Nathan Waldman, member of the Hub Manufacturing company at 511 Washington street, Boston, has filed suit for divorce here, claiming inhuman treatment at the hands of her husband.

Mrs. Waldman claims that beginning immediately after she married Nathan Waldman in New York city on June 14, 1910, until she left him only four months later, he subjected her to all sorts of cruel and abusive treatment, often beating her severely and at one time locking her in a room after choking her.

FOR NEW EMPLOYMENT POSITIONS

Civil Service Commission Announces Examination For Stenographer and Typewriter on February 15

On Saturday, February 15, the United States Civil Service commission will conduct a competitive examination to qualify applicants for the positions of stenographer and typewriter for appointments to vacancies occurring in New England. The commission has experienced considerable difficulty in securing a sufficient number of male applicants to meet the needs of the service in positions paying from $720 per annum to $930 per annum. It is hoped that a large number of candidates will appear at the local headquarters to take this coming test.

The application blank which applicants are required to fill out, together with specimen questions and general information may be had by applying to the local secretary at the postoffice or to Mr. Edward E. Stebbins, district secretary, Postoffice building, Boston. All applications must be filed with the latter on or before February 8, 1913.

LUCKY ORPHAN

Boy Fell From Train Going 40 Miles an Hour and Only Slightly Injured—Picked Up by City Marshal

STRONG CITY, Kan., Jan. 27.—Harry O'Brien, a 14-year-old orphan from St. Louis, fell from the blind baggage of a train running 40 miles an hour Sunday night, and incidentally into a home where he will be cherished and loved.

O'Brien, blind baggage, picked up by the city marshal, and bleeding, took him to his home and gave him care. So attached did the boy to his care-taker that he begged to be adopted.

WOOL SCHEDULE TARIFF

Under Fire Before Ways and Means Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Democratic plans for downward revision of the wool schedule of the tariff, one of the most complicated features to come before the extra session of congress were under fire today before the house committee on ways and means.

General expectation among house democrats is that the committee will report at the extra session virtually the same wool schedule as was incorporated in the wool bill that passed the house at the first and second sessions of this congress, was amended in the senate last summer, compromised in conference and voted by President Taft.

The average advance duty of the schedule in the present law is almost 60 per cent. The democratic bill that serves as the tentative basis of the present consideration provides very much lower duties. It would tax raw wool 20 per cent, advanced instead of the higher varying rates on three classifications in the present law.

It would put an advance duty of 20 per cent, also on wool wastes and rags, 25 per cent on combed wool or tops, 30 per cent on yarns as well as blankets and the cheaper fleecings for underwear rates ranging from 30 to 50 per cent, on cloths, ready made clothing, knit fabrics, fleecings for underwear, women's dress goods, webbing, gorings and articles not otherwise provided for.

Frank P. Bennett of Boston, editor of the American Wool & Cotton Reporter, argued for the reenactment of the Wilson law of 1894 at the outset of today's hearing.

Joseph Holmes of New York, a wool expert, recommending advance and specific duties on clothing, an advance duty on wool, with an additional duty on clothing to compensate for labor and mill cost, contended that clothing would be no cheaper if the duty on cloth were removed. He said a suit or overcoat containing $3 worth of cloth wholesale would cost $5 to $9 and retailed at from $12 to $18.

Eben S. Stephens of Worcester, Mass., a wool manufacturer, advocated putting wool wastes on the free list.

John P. Wood of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, told the committee he had accepted in good faith the assurance that the contemplated tariff revision would injure no legitimate business. He said that while rates on some articles exceed protection requirements the tariff would show the manufacturers realized no advantage from it, as domestic competition regulated prices within narrow limits of profits. The association stood generally for the present tariff.

Mr. Wood criticized the democratic and compromise bills of the previous sessions of this congress as destructive.

GENL. DANIEL SICKLES

May Not be Locked Up in Jail

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—In order to spare his old friend, General Daniel Sickles, the humiliation of arrest, Sheriff Harburger held a conference today with the counsel for the general with a view to arranging bail. This would obviate the necessity of locking General Sickles in the Ludlow street jail, pursuant to an order from the supreme court issued after the general had failed to account for more than $24,000 of the New York monument's commission.

"Thirty thousand dollars bail will be necessary," said the sheriff, "and we hope some one will come forward."

Attended by an old negro butler, General Sickles remained secluded in his Fifth avenue home awaiting further developments.

25 CARRIED FROM FIRE

Hotel in Putnam, Conn., Destroyed

PUTNAM, Conn., Jan. 27.—The Chickering hotel in the heart of the town was badly damaged by fire early today and some 25 guests and employees were carried out of the building in a semi-conscious condition overcome by smoke.

Railroad freight men left their trains nearby to aid the firemen in the rescue work.

The fire started from the furnace and within a short time the whole building was filled with a dense suffocating smoke.

Five business concerns located in the building suffered loss, principally by the total damage is estimated at close to $35,000.

MISSION AT SACRED HEART CHURCH OPENS FEB. 9

First Week For Women—and Second For Men and Boys—St. Michael's Reunion Tomorrow Evening

The members of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church received holy communion in a body yesterday morning at the 7.30 o'clock mass, and there was a large attendance of the members of the organization.

On next Sunday evening a concert will be given in the school hall under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society of the church, and some of the best local talent in the city will be heard in voice numbers. This promises to be a successful and enjoyable concert and the result of constant rehearsals and elaborate preparations on the part of those in charge.

The members of the Catholic Young Men's League of the parish are at work completing the arrangements for the "Lawrence Night" reception to the members of the Catholic Young Men's Association of the down-river city in return for a most enjoyable occasion when the local organization and their lady friends enjoyed the hospitality of the Lawrence association at their "Lowell Night," a short time ago.

A large delegation of the Lawrence young men and their lady friends is expected to attend this reception which will be held in the school hall on Thursday night. There will be an entertainment, a tournament of pool, billiards, checkers, cards, etc., and perhaps a basketball game between two teams in the gymnasium. St. Michael's orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing, and refreshments will be served during the evening. The visitors will come to this city on special cars.

Planning Reunions

The members of St. Peter's and St. Michael's parishes have completed the final arrangements for their reunions, both of which are to take place tomorrow night. In both parishes, elaborate preparations have been made by the committees to make their social events successful in every way.

The reunion of St. Peter's parish is to take place in Associate hall and yesterday afternoon there was a joint business meeting of all the committees in charge and reports were read by the chairmen. The officers of the evening are: General manager Patrick J. Frawley, assistant manager, Richard Lyons, and floor marshal, William F. Sadler. There will be ice cream, candy and lemonade booths, which doubtless will enjoy a generous patronage by those present. The evening will open with an entertainment, the program of which includes some excellent numbers by well known local talent and this will be followed by general dancing.

Next Sunday is the regular quarterly communion day for the members of the society of the Immaculate Conception at St. Peter's church.

St. Michael's Reunion

The reunion of St. Michael's parish is to take place in Mathew hall tomorrow evening. Yesterday the members of the various committees who are directing the affair held a well attended joint meeting and discussed the final details. For a long time the preparations have been in progress for this reunion and it will, according to all indications, prove in every way a brilliant success. The musical and literary entertainment which has been provided as a fitting opening for the evening will furnish a most enjoyable and interesting present and there is no need to dwell on the popularity of the general dancing, the music for which will be furnished by a well known orchestra.

St. Margaret's Whist Party

Next Thursday evening is to be a "big night" for St. Margaret's parish, for it is then that their much discussed whist party and dance will take place in Highland hall. The officers chosen to have charge of this social event are the following: General manager, William Hennessey, assistant general manager, Margaret Bagshaw, floor marshal, James Knowles; assistant floor marshal, Kathleen Driscoll; whist committee, Mrs. Minnie Laflamme, Miss Catherine McKivoy, Miss Grace McKivoy, James F. Hennessey and F. J. Campbell; refreshments committee, Mrs. William Burns, Miss Mabel Haggerty, Miss Julia Driscoll, Miss Sarah Sullivan, Miss Fannie Donovan and Mr. James Morrison.

It is certain that this whist social and dance will prove a most pleasing event for all who attend for the members of St. Margaret's parish have a wide reputation for providing excellent entertainment on occasions of this kind and as a consequence of this the events which have been held under their auspices have always been accompanied by brilliant success and have been attended by many who are not dwellers within the parish boundaries.

WILSON OPPOSES PLAN

To Hold Reception at White House

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 26.—President-elect Wilson heard today of a suggestion to hold a reception at the White House instead of at the capitol on the night of his inauguration, but he does not think the plan practicable.

"I have had no formal intimation of it," he said, "but friends tell me it would be hardly possible to hold a reception at the White House that night, as there probably will be 100,000 people in the city of Washington at the time."

Best Who Laughs Last"

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The drafting of the note rupturing the peace negotiations to be presented by the delegates of the Balkan nations to the peace plenipotentiaries of Turkey was begun this morning by the committee appointed by the delegations of the allies.

The committee consisted of Michael Madjaroff, Bulgarian minister in London; Prof. Georgios Strati, Greek minister of Austria-Hungary; Dr. Vesitch, Servian minister to France; Count Voronovitch, chief of the cabinet of King Nicholas of Montenegro; with M. Potoski of the Greek delegation as an adviser on questions of international law.

The committee will meet again this afternoon when it expects to complete the note which will then be submitted to a plenary sitting of the Bulgarian, Greek, Montenegrin and Servian delegations.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Up to this mid-afternoon Governor Foss had not received the letter of Gov. Haines of Maine setting forth the latter's views on the proposed New England railroad conference.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Gen. Daniel Sickles of Civil war fame was technically released today. The $30,000 bail was furnished by a surety company. The old soldier is charged by the state with responsibility for a shortage of $23,476 in the funds of the New York monuments commission, of which he is custodian.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The supreme court declined today to interfere with the five-year penitentiary sentence imposed upon J. Thornburn Ross, former president of the Trust Guaranty & Title Co. of Portland, Ore., convicted of larceny of state educational funds in his bank during the past year.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—When the transport Summer comes to Washington early in March to embark the senate and house naval affairs committees for Panama they will bring to participate in the inaugural parade two companies of bluejackets from the New Hampshire, and company of bluejackets from the Louisiana.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The revenue decreased in 1912 as follows: Taxes, $298,729.17; department revenue, $470,500; total, $1,431,929.17. The revenue for the present year figures: $1,425,555.67; $585,759.22 for taxes and $442,156.45 for department revenues. These figures reduce the income for 1913 to the tune of $511,350.

Revenue Decreased
In substantiation of Mayor O'Donnell's statement to the effect that the city will be short about $6000 in its revenues this year, Charles D. Daigo, city auditor, says: "It is true that more money should be raised by taxation in 1913 than in 1912, but there is a dropping off in other receipts that more than counterbalances the increase from tax money. The spending capacity of the city in 1912 was as follows: Taxes, $298,729.17; department revenue, $470,500; total, $1,431,929.17. MUNICIPAL GARAGE IS COMING

Ald. Barrett Says it Soon Will be Required—High St. Apparatus
Not Yet Paid For

Discussing automobile fire apparatus today, Commissioner Barrett said it was but a question of time, and a comparatively short time, too, when Lowell would have a municipal garage. "A municipal garage," he said, "will soon be the requirement of the hour. So far as fire apparatus is concerned the day of the horse-drawn vehicle has gone by. The automobile in the fire department represents economy as well as speed. Under the old horse system it was necessary to build new fire houses as the city developed, but with automobile apparatus great distances can be covered from central points. This, in itself, saves economy, and there are many other savings on the side. All of the machines carry chemicals and the average person does not stop to think what that means. There are a great many fires that could be handled solely by chemicals if the chemicals were on the ground. If there is a fire on the top story of a house and water is turned on full force the tenants underneath are liable to suffer greater damage than the occupants of the floor on which the fire started. This loss is minimized by the use of chemicals. A municipal garage would house all the machines owned by the different departments and the city could do its own repairing," he said.

The first piece of fire apparatus received in this city, the auto combination installed at the High street house, has not been paid for. George H. Brown, commissioner of finance, has not approved the bill for the apparatus in question and says he will not approve it until he has gone through it very thoroughly. This is the only signature required to the bill, and there is a doubt in some minds as to whether it is the legal requirement of his signature. The machine in question is the Knox pattern and the bill amounts to $2500. It is generally conceded that the bill should have been paid a week ago and while there isn't any probability of the city being led into court in the matter, yet the facts surrounding the situation are quite interesting.

In the first place a certain amount was set aside from 1912 for the payment of the fire apparatus. The treasurer has that money and if he believes that the bill had been properly approved he should pay it. At least that is the way it is argued at city hall, but the commissioner of finance says he is holding it up because he wants to "look into" the matter and, besides, he says that the city makes a practice of paying its bills on the 15th of the month.

Big Flying Squadron
Commissioner Barrett stated very emphatically today that he would continue to add to the flying squadron of the fire department until the old system has been absolutely revolutionized. He said this would take a long time, but that it would eventually come and he says he looks forward to the day when horse service will be dispensed with in the fire department. "It is not really necessary," he said, "to hasten the day, but it is not far distant and the sooner the horseless system is installed, the better."

GRAND JURY REPORT 10 PER CENT. INCREASE

In the Alleged Monopoly
Agreement Expected
Canadian Railroadmen
Make Demand

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The federal attorneys who have been conducting the reinvestigation of the alleged monopoly agreement between the New Haven road and the Grand Trunk system said today that they expected a report from the grand jury before the end of the week. The work of the jury is proceeding rapidly because nearly all the witnesses testified at the previous investigation and many of them are required only to hear their former testimony read and to affirm its correctness.

Interest in the present investigation centers mainly in the possibility that if new indictments are found they may charge additional offenses and include other defendants besides Charles S. Melton, J. J. Chamberlin and Alfred W. Smithers, officers of the two railroads indicted by the previous jury.

Arrested Resisting Holdup
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—When Joseph Locades, a clerk, 24 years old, of 173 Meeker avenue, Williamsburg, was arrested today on a charge of fighting he surprised Magistrate Nash by saying that his arrest was an outrage, because at the time Policeman Long of the Herbert street station nabbed him he was defending himself from two robbers, one of whom blackjacked him.

Locades added that he was on his way home and reached a dark spot at Meeker avenue and Sutton street when the alleged thieves attacked him.

"I was resisting fiercely and shouting for help," said Locades, "when this policeman came along and arrested me and this other fellow."

The other prisoner, Stanislaus Skradules, a Pole, 25 years old, of 144 Hildersden street, was charged with felonious assault and carrying concealed weapons.

Skradules was held in $2000 bail for a hearing tomorrow and Locades was let go.

Street Dept. Busy
The street department is doing some repair work at the present time. Oil that seems to have been improperly applied in Andover street is being scraped off and three gangs, other than the sparrow gangs, so called, are doing general street cleaning. Commissioner Donnelly, who has charge of streets and sewers, said today that the catch basins throughout the city are not in very good shape and that he would put men to work on them within a few days. The New England Telephone & Telegraph company will begin the work of laying its conduits in Prescott street next Wednesday or Thursday. The Lowell Electric Light Corporation has also asked for a permit to lay conduits in Prescott street, and this company's petition will be heard at the meeting of the municipal council to be held tomorrow afternoon.

Debate on Home Rule Bill
LONDON, Jan. 27.—Four days' debate in the second reading stage of the home rule bill for Ireland had begun in the house of lords this evening. The adoption and the rejection of the measure were moved in speeches along familiar lines by the Marquis of Crewe and the Duke of Devonshire respectively.

As the rejection of the bill in the house of lords is certain and as its defeat will produce no immediate political consequences the upper house was not crowded and the debate was languid.

Eva Tanguay Back of Arrest
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Eva Tanguay had William J. Trahey, a 32-year-old waiter of 173 Dikeman street, Brooklyn, arrested yesterday. She says that a year ago he wrote telling her that she was a child of the sun and that for a price he could give her an astrologer's reading.

For Committee of Lowell Board of Trade—Executive Board Met This Afternoon

The executive committee of the board of trade met at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the board's rooms in Central block and completed arrangements for the forming of the "Community Council," which is to take place this evening, when a meeting of delegates from the various suburban towns boards of trade will be held.

Supper will be served at six o'clock and the meal will be followed by a business meeting.

At 8:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the educational committee of the board will meet with a committee representing the grammar masters of the city and make arrangements for the awarding of the medals on Lowell day, which will be April 1.

On Wednesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock the Highway committee will hold a session, while the City Beautiful committee will meet Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The Membership committee will convene Friday night at 12 o'clock.

A FIERY SENSATION

Salt Rheum All Over Arms

"I had boils and salt rheum on my arms so that they were literally a scab from scratching, and a fiery itching sensation which was very annoying. I took a six-bottle course of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have not had a single boil since, neither has the eruption returned on my arms. My general health is now good, no aches or pains, and as spring approaches I don't feel the need of any spring medicine." W. A. Caldwell, Littlefield, Conn.

Ask Your Doctor

And why not? Yet some people act as if a medicine could take the place of a doctor! The best medicine in the world cannot do this. If we did not believe doctors endorsed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds, we would not offer it to you.

MAN KILLED IN HIS BEDROOM

Wife Held on Charge of Murder— Says Husband Abused Her— Thinks She Struck Him

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—William Power, 65 years of age, who lived at 977 West Lynn avenue, West Lynn, was killed in his bedroom yesterday morning by a blow on the head, and the police are holding his wife, Elizabeth, on a charge of murder.

In the police station yesterday afternoon Mrs. Power declared that her husband had been drinking and threatening to stab her Saturday night. She stated that she had been badly abused during her 12 years of married life.

She claimed that yesterday morning about 11:30 he threw a pair of dirty water at her and then advanced toward her in a threatening manner. After that, she says, she cannot recall what happened, but states that she must have delivered the blow that ended his life. She is 42 years of age and has six children.

Woman's Story

Between moments of sobbing, Mrs. Power related her story and taken freely with the police and newspaper men. Power had several collections for collection in different courts. The oldest child, Emily, 11 years of age, says that she took a knife from her father Saturday night.

The police story of the tragedy begins when Dr. Thomas F. Grady notified them by telephone that a man was dead under peculiar circumstances at 977 West Lynn avenue. Inspectors Burdette and Thorne went there immediately.

Dr. Grady reported that he had been called to the house, had found the man lying dead on his bed with a suspicious looking black and blue mark, with abrasions running from the left eye back to and covering the left ear. He had notified Medical Examiner Pinkham, who arrived shortly after the police.

Mrs. Power was about the house. She told them that around half past 11 in the morning, her husband, who had been drinking considerably of late, had thrown the contents of a pair of dirty water at her. This, she said, had been in the bedroom, where she had gone, hearing him scolding their 2-year-old boy, Samuel.

Mrs. Power, a housemaid at the place, said that she had been present and had heard part of the wrangle and had received also a part of the contents of the pair. She told the police she left after Power had used the pair and knows nothing further until Mrs. Power came to the head of the stairs and called for her to get a doctor, saying that her husband was dying.

Mrs. Power conducted a boarding house, James Glynn, one of the boarders, ran out and called Dr. Grady. He also says he heard a sound of quarreling and heard Mrs. Power call for a doctor. James McLeod, another boarder, told of having heard Mrs. Power abused by her husband when Power was under the influence of liquor.

Helped Support Family

Mrs. Power told the police she supported her husband, in part, by taking boarders. She said they had lived in the Maplewood section of Malden and at 20 Russell street, Charlestown, and were married at South Boston 12 years ago. She said she had brought up the six children largely on the money she had earned running the boarding house.

She was taken to the police station, charged with murder, while her children cried and grieved about her, in spite of her assurances.

Power, when he worked, was employed as a carpenter's assistant at the Charlestown navy yard. He was a Civil war naval veteran.

"If I struck my husband I did it in self defense," said Mrs. Power to a reporter yesterday.

"I have lapses of memory at times. I recall him coming towards me after he had thrown a pair of water and after he had thrown it at me and after he had hit him and grabbed what ever I could."

Attorney J. W. Sullivan called upon her at her cell in the afternoon. He said her defense would be self-defense.

Medical Examiner J. G. Pinkham, after performing an autopsy, said death was due to cerebral hemorrhage caused by a blow. Because of injured arteries, might not have been in condition to stand much of a blow.

BOTH TRACKS BLOCKED

Heavily Loaded Refrigerator Car Jumps Rails on Boston & Maine Railroad Near Saugus Bridge

LYNN, Jan. 27.—Traffic on both inward and outward tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, between Lynn and Revere, was blocked for more than an hour last night. A heavily loaded refrigerator car on an eastbound freight train jumped the rails about 100 feet west of the Saugus river bridge. The big car blocked both tracks and a half dozen trains stalled with passengers were tied up until a wrecking crew had replaced the car on the rails.

Had the accident occurred while the train was passing over the bridge a bad wreck would have resulted, for the car went far enough away from the rails to have toppled into the river had the train been on the bridge.

Asks Reward and Is Arrested

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Because he found a pet Boston terrier and claimed $10 reward before giving up the animal, which is valued at $30, Harlan Jones, 30 years of age, of Delaware place, Brighton, was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Merchant of the Brighton police on a warrant charging him with the larceny of the dog. The complaint is made by the Boston & Albany railroad.

FIGHT NEAR THIRD RAIL

Many Watch Men Roll and Struggle

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Passengers in the Union station of the Washington street tunnel yesterday afternoon saw two men and an elevated porter in a rough and tumble fight.

The combatants were George McCarthy, claiming to live at 22 Cortland street, Everett; Frank McCarthy, who gave his address as 28 Lyons street, Everett; and Oscar Bridgman of 13 Hastings street, Cambridge. The latter is a colored porter employed by the elevated. He was sweeping the station platform when the row started.

At one time the three men rolled up in a human ball, it appeared to the onlookers, and came dangerously near the edge of the platform. The third rail was just below. One of the spectators rushed upstairs and summoned a policeman. He placed the three men under arrest. At the Hanover street station Bridgman was bailed out, but the Everett men were not so fortunate.

TAFI'S TRAVEL RECORD

When He Retires From Office March 4th He Will Be About 123,000 Miles in Four Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—When President Taft retires from public office on March 4th next he will take with him a record for travel that will probably stand for some years. It is estimated that during the four years he has been president he will have traveled about 123,000 miles, or five times the distance around the world at the equator.

He has used trains, motor cars and bathings in his touring and has been in every state in the Union except Oklahoma and North Dakota. He has made two trips to Panama, and, together with his two long swings to the Pacific coast and back, have helped considerably to increase the total mileage.

In addition Mr. Taft has made innumerable trips from Washington to New York and Chicago and in the summer has taken many short trips from Beverly. It is estimated that he has been seen by 25,000,000 people, or about one-fourth of the total population of the country. He has delivered the appropriation in every month record while president is probably close to 1500, or about one a day during the presidential term.

Congress has appropriated $25,000 a year for the president's traveling expenses and every year he has used up the appropriation. A large amount of this year's fund has been spent, but it has not been exhausted and President-elect Wilson will have as much as he needs to run from March 4 to the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. Wilson will probably remain in Washington during the special session of Congress, and for this reason his traveling expenses in the current year will not be heavy. The new appropriation will become available on July 1 next.

STILL CHANCE IN MAINE

Ice Poor Now, But Freezing Weather Would Permit Cutting as Late as March

GARDNER, Me., Jan. 27.—Some concern is expressed over the situation. While all the rivers in the state are closed at the present time, there are comparatively few good fields of ice, and with two or three more days of mild weather one or two of the large rivers may break up completely.

It is difficult to find cakes running more than four or five inches at this time, with the quality doubtful. Some ice could be cut on the Kennebec, but it is hardly of sufficient thickness and quality to warrant operations by the American Ice company.

After the middle of February it is almost impossible to harvest ice on the Kennebec. In Maine this does not hold true. In the last two great ice years for this state, the bulk of the crop was harvested after the middle of February, much of it after the first of March. With good freezing weather from this time on a substantial harvest could be secured on the Kennebec and Penobscot.

Church Choir on Strike

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 27.—Eighteen Princeton students brought here yesterday in the capacity of strike breakers during the morning and evening services of St. Michael's Episcopal church in place of the members of the regular choir, who had struck, because, they declared, the rector was interfering with them and their organist. The organist also had walked out with his sisters and a substitute had to be engaged.

The strikers mutilated their brethren in their dispute by picking up the organ and the choir and as a result of their talk with attending worshippers, many of the latter did not attend the services.

Slack For First Time at 111 Years

DENVER, Jan. 27.—To think of being sick for the last time and at the age of 111, Mrs. Mary Foley, aged 111 years, one of the oldest living people, thinks it is strange that she should be ill. Never since she can remember, she said last night, was she ever forced to take to her bed because of sickness, but she is suffering from heart trouble and her doctor fears the worst.

"I AM TIRED OF LIFE"

Wrote Girl Who Committed Suicide

NEW LONDON, Conn., Jan. 27.—"I am just tired of life," was the message written by Miss Bernice E. Leach, which she placed to her breast before she placed in her mouth a tube leading to a gas jet, wrapped a blanket around her head and died of asphyxiation in her home, 484 Main street, late Saturday night.

Miss Leach came from St. Albans, Vt., with her stepfather and mother a few years ago.

She was a talented musician and was having an expensive wardrobe made which she was to wear in her debut at the Sabbath day school concert here next month.

For several months she had been employed as stenographer by James Duffy, architect, in State street. She resided alone the greater portion of the time at the Leach home in Main street, as her parents are employed at the insane asylum at Nashua and come to this city on Sundays only.

For a couple of years a broker named Herkenrath, with headquarters at 2 Wall street, New York, and believed to reside in the suburbs of that city, has been coming to New London occasionally, calling on Miss Leach, and among her acquaintances it is thought the male were engaged and would soon be married.

Herkenrath arrived from New York Friday evening shortly after 5 o'clock. Miss Leach met him at the station and the couple were seen at the station again Saturday noon when the broker returned to New York on the 12:50 express.

No reason is given for the girl's sudden determination to end her life, except the brief note she wrote before inhaling the gas. It is reported a letter was found in the room after her death which was turned over to Acting Medical Examiner Meyer.

The body of Miss Leach will be sent to Chelsea, Mass., for interment.

WIVES FOR HER SONS

Woman Trains Girls in Her Home

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Louis J. Tichacek, of 310 South Grand avenue, trains virtuous girls in her own home for the wives for her sons. She has made three of these matches and they have been so successful that she plans for keeping her personally conducted matrimonial system in operation until her nine sons have taken servants of the family as wives.

Nine Sons and One Daughter

The father of this interesting family of nine sons and a daughter also has a system of training one of his sons, the age of 10 he is given an interest in the father's business and becomes an active partner in it. Tichacek has just taken his eighth son, Harry, into the firm.

Their mother finds their wives and I put them in business, and everybody is happy," says Tichacek.

Mrs. Tichacek has a rule which thus far has never failed her. This is the way she states it:

If a girl is good enough to work in my household for five years, she is good enough to marry one of my sons.

When a girl has successfully passed through the five years of probation and has shown that she is prudent as a cook, and as a housekeeper, according to the standard set by this mother of 10, Mrs. Tichacek does not hesitate to recommend her to her son as a qualified and desirable helpmate.

Mr. Tichacek is a wealthy marble manufacturer and former state representative.

INJURIES FATAL

Quincy Man Struck by Train Last Night Died in Hospital—Attempted to Cross in Front of Express

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Joseph Dellase, 23, of 29 Penn street, Quincy, who was struck and thrown over the gates into Water street, near the Quincy Adams station, just before 7 o'clock last night, by the locomotive of the express which he had attempted to cross in front of, died later in the evening at the Quincy hospital from injuries not at first thought serious.

Dellase, accompanied by Frank Dall of Quincy, tried to get across under the gates before the oncoming train reached the depot. His companion succeeded and Dellase had come within a foot of clearing the path of the charging locomotive when it hit him.

Lost Suit as Bed Burned

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—John Brooks, who has no home, narrowly escaped death and lost his only suit of clothes early yesterday morning in a fire which he caused with a lighted cigarette at the Homestead lodging house, 120 Eliot street.

He was rescued by Patrolman William Corcoran of one of the fire patrol companies, who crawled through the transport of the room and dragged the sleeping man from a mattress which glowed like a live coal.

1500 Honor Late Mayor

MALDEN, Jan. 26.—Fifteen hundred people attended memorial services in the Malden auditorium, yesterday afternoon, for the late Mayor George J. Farrow.

SLASHED ON THE FACE

Negro Cut Up White Man and Escaped

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—The unwarranted slashing on the face of a white man by a slouching negro on Huntington avenue near the corner of West Newton street at 10:20 last night caused intense excitement in that section and resulted in the chase, led by Back Bay policemen, of fully 200 citizens, who searched houses on St. Botolph street from cellar to roof in an unsuccessful attempt to locate the negro.

The man cut is Robert T. Ashby, about 35 or 40 years old, who is said to live at 35 Gainsboro street, and who is an employee of an electric lighting company. In his younger days Mr. Ashby won considerable notice as an athlete. In the melee of last night his nose was nearly severed and it is understood that a doctor on Columbus avenue had to put in several stitches to close the wound.

A peculiar feature of the assault and chase is the fact that up to a late hour last night the police had not been able to locate either the colored man or his victim. Just why is not known, as the police were on the scene in a short time.

The negro then rushed back into West Newton street, from where he came. He ran into the public alleyway in the rear of houses facing Huntington avenue and St. Botolph street and into the cellar of the house at 123 St. Botolph street.

Patrolman Fisherty was a short distance away at the time and, but after the fleeing man, thinking that he could get him easily after a short run. But the colored man was too elusive and got away. It is presumed that in some manner he got out of the house again and made his way over the footbridge that leads to Clarendon park.

LECTURED ON POISONS

Dr. M. A. Tighe Gave
Talk to Policemen

FIRST OF SERIES OF FIVE "FIRST AID" DISCUSSIONS

A Large Number Listened To Description of Symptoms and Treatment For Different Kinds of Poisons

A large number of the members of the local police force listened to the first of a series of instructive talks on first aid, given by Dr. M. A. Tighe, city physician in the guard room of the police headquarters yesterday afternoon. The subject of yesterday's discussion was "Poisons" and it proved a very interesting one to all present.

It is the intention of the authorities to have one of these lectures every other Sunday and they will be five in number. The great advantage of this knowledge to the police can easily be seen for their daily work is apt to bring them into contact with cases in which the information will be most helpful. With this knowledge of the treatment of certain accident or emergency cases, the efficiency and value of the services of the local police force will be greatly augmented. Let it be understood that this lecture is of interest to others than police officers and should be read by everybody.

Each of these talks will treat of a different topic and the next one will be given on Sunday, February 3. The substance of Dr. Tighe's lecture yesterday was the following:

I have been asked by His Honor, Mayor O'Donnell, the progressive head of this department and your immediate superior, our most efficient superintendent of police, Mr. Welch, to place before you certain common situations in which you may find yourselves and to impart to you briefly the knowledge which will enable you to properly handle such situations. We are living in an age of progress, an age that demands of each of us, no matter what your calling, you as well as I, the highest degree of efficiency. We are running a race in which there is no place for the laggard in thought or action. And so it is with this thought in mind, with the thought that I might help you along certain lines to raise your standards and increase your effectiveness to the community, that I have accepted with eagerness and alacrity the invitation to address you this afternoon. And I want to say in the beginning that throughout the year during which I have been in, more or less close association with this department, I have observed none but a most humane spirit towards these unfortunate whose acts have made them amenable to law and this is as it should be. For the policeman is no less the protector of the prisoner than of the outraged community, and in this connection always bear in mind that it is by no means an easy point that these who are habitually running afoul of the law are in possession of the mentality which makes them entirely responsible for their acts. It is not our intention to burden you with a lot of medical phraseology and details. It is not intended that this series of talks will shape you into physicians, but rather place you in possession of certain simple facts which will enable you to successfully meet the common every day emergencies.

Poisons is the subject for this afternoon's discussion. A poison is a substance which either by its direct action upon the skin or mucous membranes or after absorption into the blood is capable of injuriously affecting health or of destroying life. Everything now depends on you. Keep your heads and remember that minutes, yes, seconds, are valuable. Survey the group hurriedly. Pick him or her who seems to be the most collected as your assistant. Despatch another for a physician. Make a hasty search for a vial or container which may give you a clue as to the poison taken. If you find such it will usually have a label. If not and the patient presents the following symptoms, you will know that carbolic acid has been the poison used.

1. Burning pain from mouth to stomach. Lips and mouth are white-

ened. 2. There is seldom vomiting. 3. Patient breathes with difficulty. 4. Pupils are small. 5. There is dizziness, cold clammy skin and feeble pulse. 6. If urine has been voided it may be olive green. Your first aid to an individual presenting such symptoms will be milk in abundance, and a large Suppuric acid—1. Violent burning pain, extending from throat to stomach. 2. Usually bent in an attempt to relieve the pain. 3. Vomiting is frothy, coffee ground like in substance, mixed with blood. 4. Mouth and lips are first white but very shortly become brown. 5. Great difficulty in breathing, face is usually blue. 5. Great thirst.

Nitric acid. The symptoms are the same as in sulphuric acid poisoning, except that there is no vomiting. 2. Violent pain in throat and esophagus, vomiting of lime and tongue excoerated, difficulty in breathing, except that in the latter, the vomitus is yellow, instead of brown, the lips are citrine yellow in color.

Oxalic Acid, oftentimes mistaken for Epsom Salts.

Symptoms. 1—Burning acid taste immediately. 2—Violent bloody vomiting. 3—Cold sweats. 4—Blueness of extremities. 5—Coma.

If the poison is well diluted, convulsions are apt to be the most prominent symptom. Before going into the treatment of these acid poisons, let us pause a moment to consider a fact which will make the treatment of these conditions more understandable. In chemistry, we have chemical bases which neutralize acids. These bases are called alkalis. So that if we have acid poisoning, the logical thing to do is to put into the stomach or on to the part poisoned an alkali, so that the acid may be rendered neutral or inert. Lime is an alkali. If you find a person suffering from acid poisoning, break some of the plaster from the wall or ceiling, dissolve it in water and give it to the patient, and conversely if caustic potash, caustic soda or solution of ammonia be the poisons, give the patient vinegar or lemon juice, in water.

Phosphorus poisoning. Rat paste contains 4 to 6 per cent yellow phosphorus. Fat, sugar, flour and Presbury blue rubbed into face and hands to produce blue flame. Hydrogen peroxide in teaspoonful doses, well diluted in water.

Iodine, owing to color and smell, seldom used for homicidal purposes, due to taking tincture or liniment by mistake.

Symptoms. 1—Burning pain in throat, mouth and stomach. 2—Vomiting and heartburn, vomited matter either yellow or brownish. Color of iodine may be blue or black. If any starch is fed in stomach. 3—Great thirst, headache and feeling of faintness. 4—Coldness of surface and small, feeble pulse.

Treatment. Emetics of warm water, followed by mixture of starch and water. Parley water.

Arsenic. Common containers, fly powder, certain weed killers, arsenical soap, used sometimes for preserving the skins of birds and animals. Symptoms of arsenical poisoning have been known to occur from keeping such

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS.

NO HEADACHE, BAD TASTE, SOUR STOMACH OR COATED TONGUE
BY MORNING

It is more necessary that you keep your bowels. Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

A mixture of carbonate of soda and white arsenic is sometimes used to clean steam boilers and is very dangerous. The drug has been employed for producing a glaze upon fancy paper, note paper, cardboard boxes, and playing cards. It is employed in glass making, and white enameled ware, in making, and glazed leather linings, rat paste, glue, and glue linings. The ordinary silk coat sleeve linings and ordinary common black cambric furniture lining have been found to contain arsenic.

Scheele's green, a coloring agent, contains poisonous amounts of arsenic and is sometimes used in cheap green wall paper, book covers, lamp shades, painted flowers and leaves, green wax, painted wax tapers, India rubber balls and dolls, japanned woods, tablecloths, carpets, floor cloths, linoleums, printed calico, cretonnes, chintzes and green braid and many other substances into which time does not allow us to go.

In acute arsenical poisoning the condition which you may meet, a weak mixture of mustard and water should be administered.

Corrosive sublimate, also known as bichloride of mercury, is a poison which is taken quite frequently with suicidal intent.

The symptoms are: 1—A strong metallic burning heat in throat and stomach. 2—Violent pain in abdomen. 3—Vomiting of slimy mucus and frequently blood. 4—Purging, blood in stools. 5—Cold, clammy skin, cyanosis and small irregular pulse. 6—Suppression of urine.

Treatment. Tablespoonful of flour in a tumbler of milk. If you are so placed as to obtain such, the whites of raw eggs may be used. If at the end of 15 minutes you are still in charge of the case, a weak solution of warm water and mustard should be given the patient.

Creolin, Chloral Hydrate (knockout drops), Opium, Prussic Acid, Strychnine, Cyanide of Potassium.

The recognition of the symptoms and the first aid indicated in poisoning from the above will also be discussed.

Poisoning by creolin is not uncommon. This is a proprietary product from coal tar elements prepared under a secret process and consequently its true composition is not known outside of the patent office. Vomiting should be induced by administering an emetic of mustard and water.

Chloral hydrate or "knockout drops" is the one drug which is probably more frequently used than any other by certain types of criminals in the plying of their trade. To illustrate by a concrete example: A certain man, but always a young man either, decides to show himself a good time and lies himself from the quiet, peaceful haunts of his home surroundings to where the lights are bright and where the tinkling of glasses and the popping of corks is the music that promotes the thought that everybody is a good fellow.

He meets Jack Smith, whom he has never seen before, who slaps him on the back, calls him a sport and a devil of a fellow and asks him to drink. But our friend would not think of letting such a fine friend as his new-found friend Jack pay. He unfolds his bank roll, strips a bill off and grandiloquently calls up the house.

The curtain is lowered on this scene of revelry and in the second act, if you find a man lying in some dark alley, whose breathing is slow and labored, or quick and shallow, whose pulse is small and feeble, whose face is livid or extremely pale, whose pupils are small and do not move upon opening the eye, and whose body is cold and clammy, and who has not a cent or a valuable thing on his person, it is a fair assumption that he is our rural sport and that some chloral hydrate or "knockout drops" has found its way in some mysterious manner into his stomach. Give such an individual an emetic of mustard and water. After he has vomited, if obtainable give him a hot drink of strong black coffee, and if breathing has ceased, perform artificial respiration.

Opium—Morphine is the most important alkaloid of opium and the form of opium which is most frequently used for suicidal or homicidal purposes. In acute morphine poisoning, there is a short period of pleasurable mental excitement, accompanied by a flushed face and increased brilliancy of the eyes.

Then comes depression, headache or a feeling of oppression in the head, drowsiness, stupor and complete insensibility which may pass on to coma. Before the insensibility has become complete, you may arouse the individual by a loud noise, but he speedily relapses into a state of stupor.

The breathing is at first hurried, later becoming slow, irregular and snoring. Skin is cold and moist. The moisture of the skin is characteristic. Morphine arrests all the secretions of the body except that of the skin, which is apt to be excessive. In the early stages the pupils are small and light and do not react on them. In the later stages of opium poisoning the pupils are large and still insensible to light.

This is an especially bad sign. It indicates widespread muscular paralysis. This is a poison in which it is particularly necessary to empty the stomach, because after the poison is absorbed it is again re-excreted into the stomach. Unless the stomach is emptied frequently the poison will continue to have poisonous symptoms from the excreted drug. Give the patient an emetic of weak mustard solution. Give him hot black coffee. If your patient's breathing has become irregular or has stopped, do artificial respiration. You will find many books which will recommend that you walk the patient around from time to time, shout at or strike him. Do not do this, for such treatment exhausts the vital powers.

Cyanide of potassium. Act rapidly, one to two minutes at most; rapid loss of muscular power; dizziness and perspiration; falls to ground; insensibility rapidly increases, gasping breathing, may cease for a few seconds and person appears to be dead, when another convulsive breath may occur. Mustard and water emetic, artificial respiration, cold water on face, back and neck.

The signs of death and asphyxia will be the subjects of our second discourse. There will be a practical demonstration of artificial respiration.

Asphyxiation, hanging, drowning, throttling, suffocation, blinding gas.

In our third conference we will consider the distinction between alcoholic intoxication and the various diseases which may simulate it, so that the policeman may be able to tell a sick man from an intoxicated one, and act accordingly.

In our fourth conference we will consider surgical first aid, temporary dressing of wounds; how to give a tourniquet; how to improvise a tourniquet; application of temporary splints; how to apply them in cases of broken legs, arms, etc.; first aid in burns, scalding.

The subject of the fifth conference will be injuries from electricity; injuries from lightning; injuries from cold; injuries from starvation; their recognition and first aid.

Question of Succession to Throne is Worrying Russian Empire--Grand Duke Alexis, is Very Nervous

THREE RECENT PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE CZAREVITCH.

"He has the extreme nervous activity often seen in children who are not destined to live long." So runs the recent statement about the Grand Duke Alexis, only son of Emperor Nicholas II. of Russia. It is a statement fraught with tremendous possibilities. Despite the spread of republican ideas throughout the earth, penetrating even the innermost recesses of "darkest Russia," the occupant of the throne of the big empire is and will be for many years to come a very important figure.

The institution of the duma and ministerial government in Russia has not lessened the potential personal might of the czar. He is still "emperor and autocrat of all the Russias," czar of Moscow, Kiev, Vladimir, Novgorod, Kazan, Astrakhan, of Poland, of Siberia and of a score of other lands, besides lord and sovereign of a hundred cities. It takes eleven lines of close small print in the Almanach de Gotha to tell his titles, and even then they wind up with the significant "etc."

The Grand Duke Alexis was born July 26, 1904, in the palace of Peterhof. He is the fifth child and the only son of the Emperor Nicholas and the Empress Alexandra. The latter before her marriage in 1894 was the Princess Alix of Hesse, granddaughter of Queen Victoria of Great Britain. The birth of the czarévitch was made the occasion of wonderful rejoicings throughout Russia.

From all accounts of persons who have been permitted to see the Russian royal child at close range, the young prince is a spoiled, but very bright youngster. He has been permitted to lord it over his older sisters and has not proved amenable to correction even by his parents. Of course discipline by governess or tutor of the heir to the second mightiest throne on earth has been out of the question. But in extension of the misbehavior of the czarévitch many amusing stories of his brightness and quickness of wit are told. For example, it is said that a recent meeting of the emperor with some of his counselors was interrupted by the intrusion of the youngster, who burst into the room to tell his father that his sister Tasia (Anastasia) had walloped him. Being reproved by the emperor for interrupting a grave matter of business, the boy left the room, to return in a few minutes wearing the uniform of a general in the Russian army. Giving his father a military salute, the boy said gravely:

"Sir, I have the honor to report that her imperial highness the Grand Duchess Anastasia has had the boldness to strike a general in your majesty's army." And with that he marched gravely out of the room.

Next in order of succession to the Grand Duke Alexis comes the only brother of Nicholas II., the Grand Duke Michael. But Michael recently renounced his right to the throne. He has joined the growing ranks of the royalties who prefer love to the burdens of the empire. He is married, morganatically—that is, his marriage is recognized by the church, but not by the state—to a lady of non-royal rank. The recent birth of a son induced him to seek retirement on his country estates. He has never had much taste for the life at court and has virtually given up all his privileges.

After the Grand Duke Michael in the line of succession come the three sons of the late Grand Duke Vladimir, brother of the assassinated Emperor Alexander II. They are, in order of age, Cyril, Boris and Andrew. None of them is popular in Russia.

IN NORTH CHELMSFORD

Court Wannalancit Held Installation

A public installation of officers of Court Wannalancit, No. 171, M. C. O. F. was held yesterday afternoon in the town hall, and was well attended by the members and their friends, together with many out-of-town visitors. Thomas W. O'Rourke, D. H. C. R. had charge of the installation, while the degree staff of Court Lepanto, No. 142, of Malden, directed the degree work.

Miss Margaret McGlory of Somerville, Mass., was marshal of the staff, and performed her work very effectively, while the other young ladies who took part were exceptionally well drilled. The degree staff included the following: Misses Nora V. Kelley, Mary J. O'Shea, Rita H. Solis, Eileen M. Lordin, Maude B. Smithwick, Margaret E. Grover, Josephine G. Keefe, Mary A. Carberry, Nora Glynn, Mary Conway, Mary E. Sullivan, Mary V. Rodden, Nellie E. Hackett, Mary C. Hannigan, Nellie Carberry, Margaret C. Fitzpatrick, pianist, Miss Marion I. Solis, manager, Mr. Michael J. Smith, and director, Joseph H. Kelley.

The following were installed as officers: Chief ranger, James P. Daley; past chief ranger, Henry O. Minor; vice chief ranger, Arthur J. McManis; recording secretary, Denis McCuskey; financial secretary, Perley Constanline; treasurer, John F. McManis; senior conductor, Frederick Reedy; junior conductor, Michael Donnelly; outside sentinel, Michael McPhillips; and inside sentinel, George Shanley.

After the installation there was an address by Rev. Edmund T. Schofield, pastor of St. John's church, and chaplain of the court, who paid an eloquent tribute to the order, its beneficent work, and the devotion of its members to the interests of the poor, the needy, the widows and orphans.

The other speakers of the afternoon were: Dr. James J. Hoban, the court physician; Treasurer John F. McManis, who was first chief ranger of the court; Arthur McLaughlin, of St. Brandon court, No. 23, West Springfield, and D. H. C. R. Thomas O'Rourke.

Following the speeches, Chief Ranger James P. Daley invited those present at a luncheon which was served in the lower hall. The affair lasted until about 5 o'clock.

The Middlesex County Training school re-opened this morning, after being closed for several weeks, on account of the scarlet fever epidemic.

Last Friday afternoon, near the Chelsea elevated mills, there was a collision between an electric car and a Boston automobile. The machine was slightly damaged and its front lamps broken, but the owners decided to keep on their journey and make repairs later.

At the last meeting of the standing committee of the Congregational church, at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Crowell, considerable financial business was transacted and plans were made to improve the social rooms connected with the church.

NOT DUBREIL

Body Found Floating in Merrimack River in Haverhill Not Yet Identified—Police are Puzzled

The Haverhill police are puzzled over the identification of the body that was found floating in the Merrimack river yesterday, and which at first was thought to be that of John Dubreil of this city. Mrs. Dubreil, of 59 Front street, this city, was notified of the finding of the body and in company with two friends called at the Haverhill morgue, but failed to identify the body as that of her husband.

The woman's failure to identify the body and the discovery of a pass book issued to John Dubreil, who disappeared from his home over two months ago, is a rather embarrassing puzzle to the Haverhill police.

Dubreil has been missing more than two months and the police believe that if the body being held awaiting identification had come down the river from Lowell it would have been buried in going over the falls at Lawrence.

The body is that of a man about 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches in height, brown hair and brown eyes and weighing 150 pounds. He wore a black coat and vest and gray trousers with a fine black stripe. A pocketbook containing $10 in bills was also found in the clothes. The body will be held for a few days by the police.

CORSAGE BOUQUET OF RIBBON

FLOWERS, GREATLY APPRECIATED

DAINTY LITTLE RIBBON FLOWERS

There is not a woman in the land who can sew or who is in any way clever with the needle who will not enjoy making for herself or her friend a dainty corsage bouquet of ribbon flowers.

These are perhaps the most attractive ornaments for the modern woman's dress and hat, and being hand-made, they are greatly to be desired.

From the illustrations you can make a good idea of how these lovely bouquets should look when they are finished. All that is necessary for you to do is to supply yourself with the materials, needle and thread, and the task of making them will soon be accomplished.

For coat bouquets to wear with the tailored suit the old fashioned flowers are most liked. The tight little bouquet, consisting of jack rosebud, surrounded with magnolia and set in a paper lace fringe is deliciously quaint. It is seen among the cut.

Very graceful, too, is the ornament

POSTOFFICES TOO SMALL

Lack of Room for the Parcel Post

Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—If the wishes of Postmaster-General Hitchcock are carried out, congress will make provisions for the alteration of the plans of postoffice buildings to provide ample space for handling parcel post business. Since the parcel post was put in operation it has been found that few of the postoffices throughout the country are properly equipped for it.

There will be a number of new postoffice buildings erected throughout New England in the near future. Plans for some of them have already been drawn and will have to be altered if Mr. Hitchcock's scheme goes through.

In the entire country at the present time there are 154 public buildings under contract and 233 additional have been appropriated for by congress, representing a total appropriation of approximately $50,000,000. The plans for these buildings have been prepared without regard for the establishment of a parcel post, it is necessary now to have changes made in their architectural construction in order that the incoming volume of mail may be handled to the best advantage.

There are 759 postoffices located in government buildings, and in most cases it will be necessary to make alterations on account of parcel post. In many instances the purchase of additional ground for the construction of annexes will be necessary.

With a view to getting this work under way as quickly as possible, Postmaster-General Hitchcock has invited the supervising architect of the Treasury department with his assistants to confer with the building committee of the Postoffice department and the special parcel post committee on the subject. Extra appropriations by congress will be necessary in most instances.

CAMP OF NORTH CHELMSFORD BOY SCOUTS

The first Chelmsford troop of the Boy Scouts of America is located in North Chelmsford. The troop was founded by Mr. James Kibberd and Rev. Mr. Moe of that town. These gentlemen attended a lecture given by Colonel Wakefield of London, a co-worker in the Boy Scout movement with his companion of the South African war, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, K. C. B., the organizer of the present wide-spread movement, and were so interested in the idea that their efforts have resulted in the present admirable organization.

The North Chelmsford troop is the first troop that was organized in this vicinity. With the impetus given by the attitude of Mr. Kibberd and Rev. Mr. Moe, the movement has steadily grown since its inauguration in October, 1910.

Mr. Kibberd has been scoutmaster from the time of the troop's organization and has devoted his efforts to its improvement. The people of North Chelmsford have become infected with his enthusiasm and have installed the troop in the Durant building with adequate clubrooms. The boys themselves, however, fitted up the rooms and shingled the entire building.

The first room, on entering, is used as a reading and social room. The meetings of the organization are all held in this room, which is the largest. As shown by the accompanying photograph, the main feature of the room is the large painted insignia emblematic of the Boy Scout motto, "Be Prepared." A piano, books, periodicals and trophies make the room very pleasant.

Off this room there is a smaller one used for the more strenuous exercises of the Scouts. Here boxing, wrestling and all the more vigorous sports are engaged in every evening. From this room the third and last room of the suite leads. Two Trouty presses have been fitted up here. Besides doing all of their own printing, the Boy Scouts issue a paper known as the "Tonalawit," giving details of their work and other items.

Although the boys elect their own officers there is a board of trustees in connection with the association who act as an advisory committee. At present this board is composed of Arthur Troubet, Alfred Freeze and Edgar Dixon, all local men. Examination for advancement is also conducted by the board.

Any Chelmsford boy has the opportunity to join this Boy Scout troop of North Chelmsford. No initiation fees are charged and the regular dues are very small. The boys are instructed in the best manner of taking care of themselves under all conditions and Dr. F. E. Varney gives them a lecture and demonstration every Wednesday afternoon on first-aid-to-the-injured work such as bandaging and bone-setting.

There are twenty-three "merit badges" now among the members of the troop and more are looked for at the next examination. These badges and the summer camping trip with Scoutmaster Kibberd are more discussed than anything else on the Scout program.

Plans are being made for an addition in the near future to be used as a school of manual training. Mr. Arthur Troubet of the Chelmsford high school has been secured to take this department in hand. When this is accomplished, if not before, Scoutmaster Kibberd and his North Chelmsford troop will have one of the finest equipped club rooms in this vicinity.

FAVORITE CAKE RECIPES VERY PRETTY GATHERING

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is Good Cook

Bazaar Opened at C. M.
A. C. Hall

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, like most southern women, is a good cook, and the following are two of her favorite cake recipes:

Maryland Marble Cake—For the dark part of the cake cream into a cupful of butter two cupfuls of brown sugar. Add to this the yolks of seven eggs beaten as stiff as possible. Stir into one cupful of molasses a teaspoonful of soda and add this to the creamed sugar and butter, beat vigorously, then add, still beating, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, one tablespoonful of allspice and one cupful of sour milk. Then beat into the batter very slowly five cupfuls of flour that has been sifted twice. Beat or knead the whole for ten or fifteen minutes.

For the white part of the cake cream one cupful of butter and two cupfuls of very fine granulated sugar. Add to this the whites of seven eggs, whipped until they can stand alone. Dissolve thoroughly half a teaspoonful of soda and half a cupful of sweet milk, beat this into the batter, then sift a teaspoonful of cream of tartar thoroughly into three cupfuls of flour and beat this into the batter, then continue to beat the whole for ten or fifteen minutes. When ready to bake spread a layer of the dark batter about three-quarters of an inch thick in the bottom of a baking tin and then a layer of the white batter an inch deep and then another of the dark. This recipe makes four loaves of cake which when cut are most attractive looking.

Original Chocolate Cake—Cream one cupful of butter thoroughly into two cupfuls of sugar till it is a creamy paste. Add to this the yolks of five stiffly beaten eggs and the whites of two, also well beaten. Add a cupful of sweet milk in which half a teaspoonful of soda has been thoroughly dissolved. Then beat into this batter three and a half cupfuls of flour, through which one teaspoonful of cream of tartar has been sifted. It is best to sift flour three or four times. Bake in shallow jelly cake tins.

The mixture for filling is made as follows: Beat into a stiff froth the whites of three eggs, add to them one and a half cupfuls of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate and one teaspoonful of vanilla.

Non-Secret Remedies for Hemorrhoids (Piles)

The "E-H-T" (English Hemorrhoid Treatment) remedies have the prescription of contents on every box. The only secret about it is our method of blending. Your druggist and even your physician—if he be unprejudiced—will tell you that our remedies are based on right principles.

different sodalities of the parish and will come to a close Saturday evening, the hall to be open every evening. The place was artistically decorated by Mr. Laurier Tremblay and with the electrical effects last night presented a fine appearance.

The different booths are also attractively decorated and business was booming all evening. In the course of the evening a delightful concert was rendered by Hilbard's orchestra. Arthur Percault sang "The Rosary" in fine voice, while a chorus of young women under the direction of Miss Anna E. Bourassa rendered several fine selections. The booths and these in charge are as follows:

Jewelry—L. J. Corneller, president; Mrs. L. J. Corneller, Alexander Morin and Arthur Archambault.

Tonic: Alfred Bilcault, president; Philippe Morin and Alfred Bechard.

Shooting gallery—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bergeron, Miss Maria Trudel and Mr. V. Trudel.

Soda fountain—Georgina Boisvert, president; Arthur Leblanc and Miss Lillian Cognac.

Among those who assisted at the Third Order of St. Francis sodality booth were the following: Mrs. Euzébie Dupont, chairman; Mrs. Charles Boisvert, vice-president; Miss Louise Anna Chandonnet, secretary; Mrs. William Achin, Mrs. John Racette, Mrs. Urselle Larue, Mrs. Alne Rheault, Mrs. Miriam Pelletier, Mrs. Joseph DuCharme, Mrs. Avila Lussier, Mrs. Napoleon Legare, Mrs. Edouard Boileau, Mrs. John Giroux, Mrs. Magloire Grondin, Mrs. Edouard Ducharme, Mrs. Edmond Deslauriers, Mrs. Alfred Vallier, and Mrs. Alfred Rodrigue, Mrs. Napoleon Lozeau, Mrs. G. Breaud, Misses Lina Lachance, Eva Bilcault, Aurora Dickman, Cordelia Carrier, Eva Crepeau, Marie Anna Theriault, Marie and Valentine Beaulieu, Evelyn Richard, Therese Pelletier, Antoinette and Helen Crepeau, Alice Forget, Lucie Rheault, Clara Deschenaux, Rachel Richards, Anita Boulais, Blanche Ledoux, Eva Racette, Aurora and Annette Vigant, L. Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I., and Rev. Jerome Dils, O. M. I., have general charge of the affair.

CHELMSFORD

After a brief visit in Boston with friends Mrs. Michael Rinch has returned to her home on the corner of Middlesex and Wright streets.

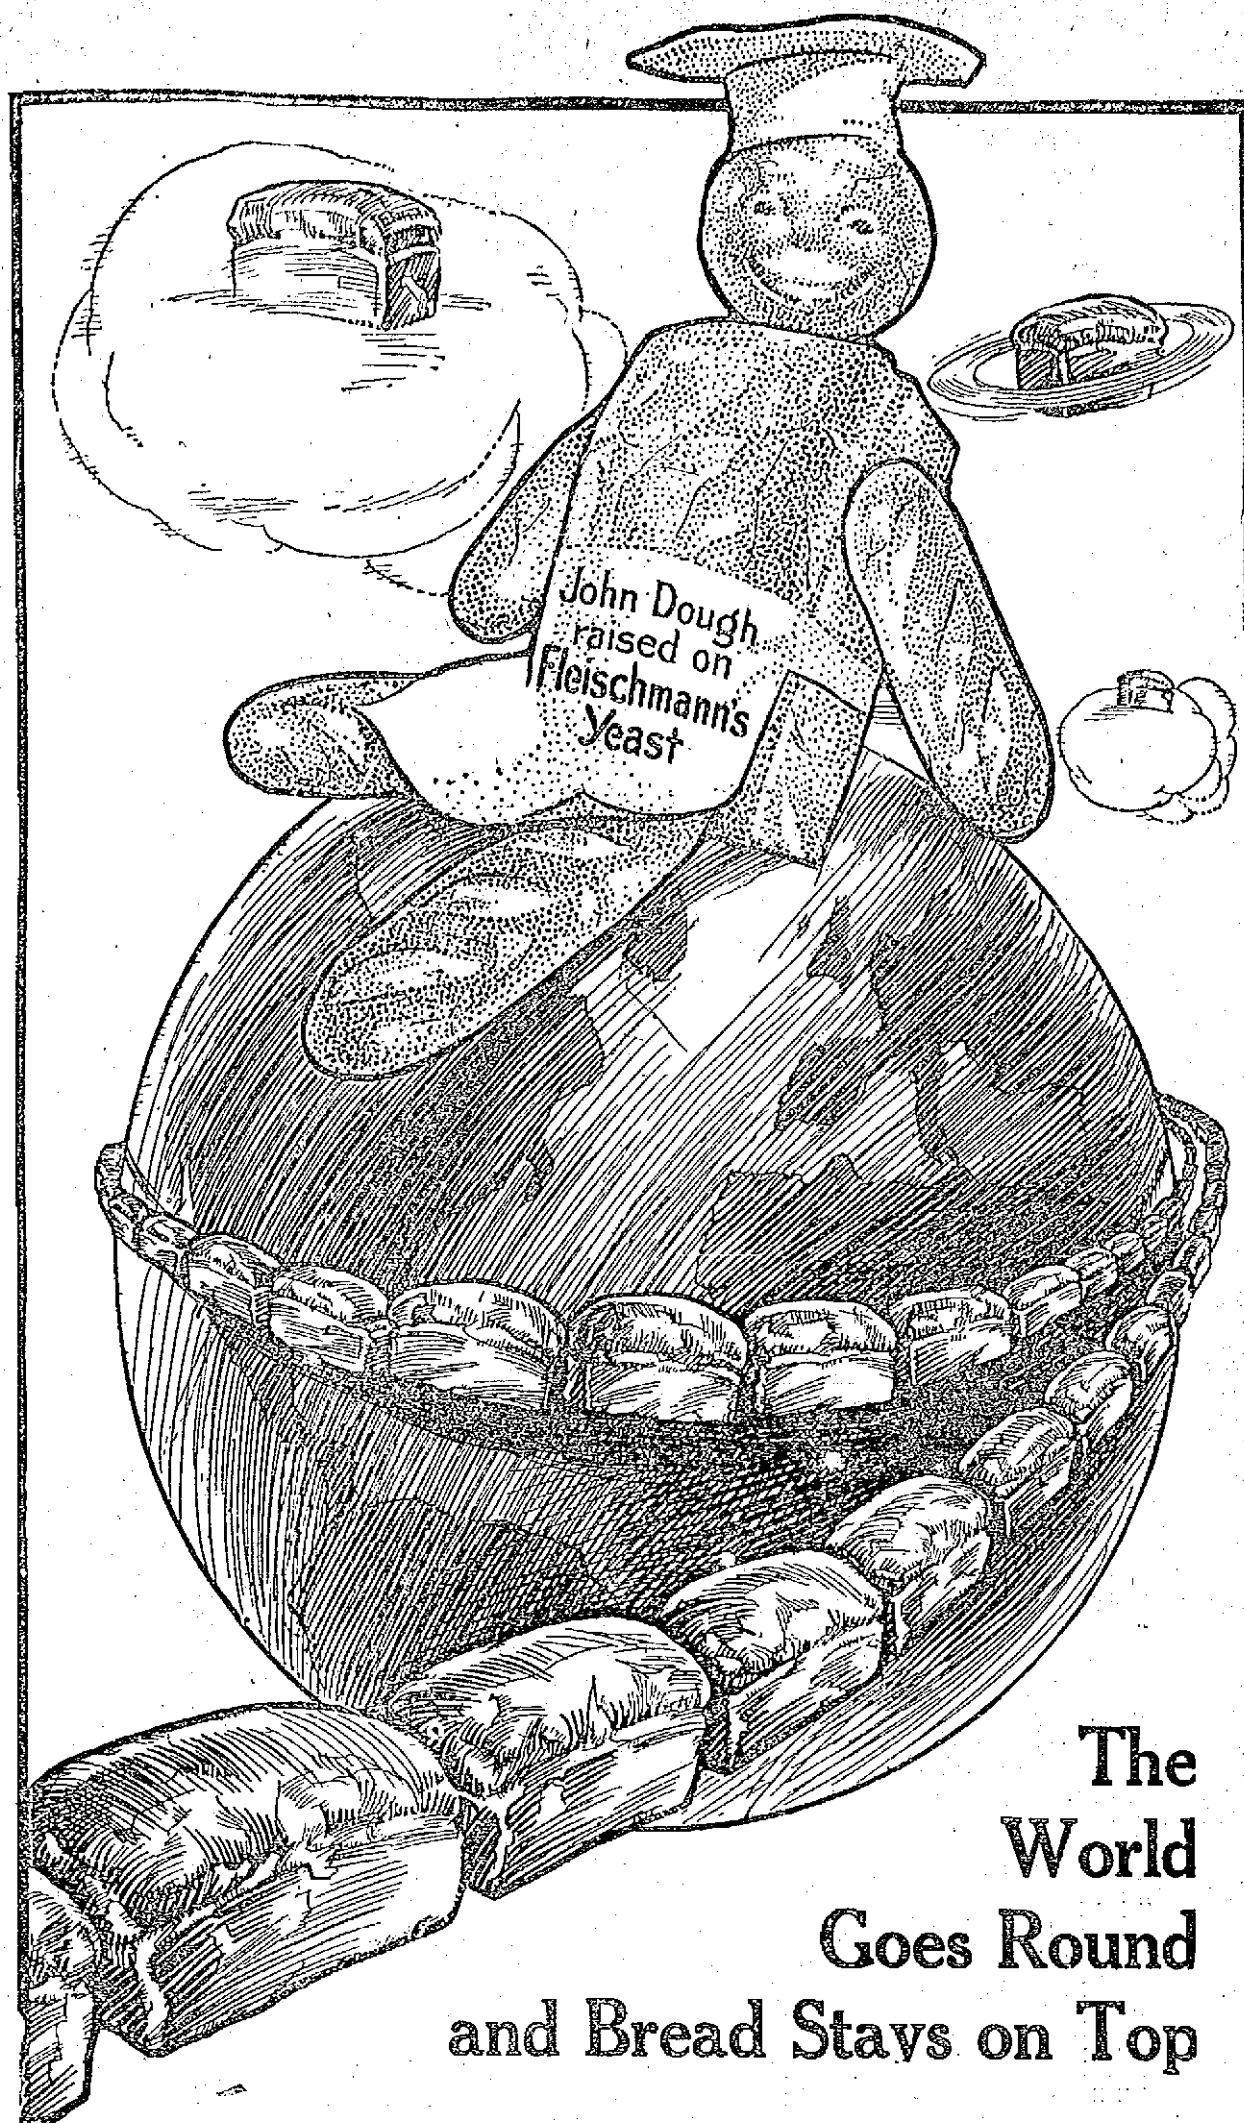

Mr. David Higgins, a French street car for the past few days, has been confined to his bed on account of a severe attack of the grip.

Mr. Fred Roberts of the North village, who is a great lover of flowers, is the proud possessor of two silver cups, being the winner of the first and second prizes in his garden, which were exhibited at the Lawrence's party show the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Nickles, who for the past few months have been patiently waiting the completion of their new cottage on a Littleton street, situated between Mr. E. A. Lane's and Mr. Kibberd's residence, moved into it on Saturday.

On seeing the improvement of the road due to the use of scrapers the past week Superintendent of Highways David Higgins ordered a continuation of the road work on Saturday.

Carriages before at the post office for the week are for Mrs. Ernest Bee-man, Searle Cryer, T. N. Roberts,

Many Lowell Residents Are Greatly Interested in the Warlike Attitude of Austria-Hapsburg's Head a European Figure of Much Importance

Just at present the rather warlike attitude of Austria is of great interest to the people of Lowell who are watching the course of events and dreading the possibility of a great European war. Charles N. Lurie, writing for The Sun and telling of the Hapsburg family now reigning at Vienna, the capital of the great Austrian empire, says:

The head of the Hapsburg family, reigning in Vienna over the dual monarchy of Austria-Hungary (with the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina, recently annexed,) does not today wield powers such as those possessed by his ancestors in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. True, the world is larger now and newer empires have risen since the days of the mighty Charles V., sovereign of Spain, Austria, Germany, the Netherlands, emperor of the Indies and ruler of a dozen other countries. But he held a mightier scepter than do the successors to his titular honors, when the size of the known world then is compared to the earth as it exists today.

Nevertheless the successor of Francis Joseph on the throne of Austria-Hungary will be no mean monarch. Francis Ferdinand will have a potent voice in the councils of the nations, in virtue of his 50,000,000 subjects, inhabiting almost 200,000 square miles of territory and speaking a dozen tongues.

Lying compactly in the very center of Europe, with one of the mightiest armies on earth and with enough of a modern navy to make her presence on the sea respected, Austria-Hungary has held the scales with the warring Balkan powers in the one pan and the dissolving Turkish empire in the other. Her alliance with Germany and Italy sets a bulwark of mighty powers between France and Great Britain, and in the east, her proximity to the scene of action in the "near east" and the importance of her material interests in and around Turkish territory gave her a voice of authority in the peace negotiations in London.

When the report of the serious illness of Emperor Francis Joseph, following many similar announcements, turned the minds of the world to the heir to the throne, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, thoughts of the Balkan situation were coupled with

There can be no doubt that the peaceful tendencies of the old Kaiser, who had experienced warfare in his younger years, kept his empire from opening the doors of the temple of war. But with Francis Joseph gone and Francis Ferdinand, a much younger man, without experience of warfare and with a soldier's training on the throne, who could tell what course Austria-Hungary would take?

For an example of the predicted difficulties to beset the successor of Francis Joseph consider this: Would he be left free by united support in his own empire to seek wider fields of adventure beyond the Danube? Or would the vexed question of his morganatic marriage (acknowledged as such in Austria, but not in Hungary) rise to keep his energies at home? It is well known, of course, that the question of the succession to the Austria-Hungarian crown is involved in a maze of difficulties.

According to the solemn renuncia-tions of Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife, his sons may not succeed to their father's honors. On the mother's side they are nonroyal and as such are barred forever from inheritance. But the Princess of Hohenberg, Francis Ferdinand's wife (on the "left" side), is an able, brilliant woman, ambitious for her children if not for herself. Will she be content to sit not on the throne itself, but on its lower steps with her children still lower? Or will she rely on the fact that Hungary does not recognize so modern an anomaly as a morganatic marriage and gradually and insidiously press the claims of her elder son to succeed to his father's position?

If Francis Ferdinand dies

While Francis Ferdinand lives and remains true to the oath of renunciation the question is one of theory rather than of actuality. But let Francis Ferdinand fall in battle—he is reputed a brave and able soldier and willing to lead his troops in person if need arise—or succumb to disease and the question will leave the bounds of mere theory and become one of very acute reality.

Next to Francis Ferdinand in line of succession to the throne always has been, of course, the son of Francis Ferdinand by his morganatic wife—the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, nephew to Francis Ferdinand and son of the late Archduke Otto, who was the brother of Ferdinand. Otto died in 1888 and his honors went to his son, who is now in his twenty-sixth year. Charles Francis Joseph was married in 1911 to Princess Zita of Parma. She gave birth to a son on Nov. 22 last. This infant received the name Charles Francis Joseph Otto and thirteen others.

If Rudolf Had Lived

All this fuss about the Austrian succession would have been avoided if the only son of the old Emperor Francis Joseph had not committed suicide or been shot by another in the hunting lodge in Muerling on Jan. 20, 1889, and had survived to this day. Just how Crown Prince Rudolf came to his death has not been explained satisfactorily in the twenty-four years that have elapsed, although from time to time newspaper readers have been regaled with sensational accounts of the tragedy, each one purporting to be the only true and full record of the facts.

The generally accepted explanation of the affair is that Rudolf was, so deeply involved with the Duchess Vetsera that he shot her and himself as the only way out of the mess. His death left the succession of the throne to his cousin, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, who was not then the morganatic husband of the beautiful Countess Sophie Chotek, later created by the Emperor Francis Joseph the Princess of Hohenberg, to signalize his approval of her marriage to his nephew, Francis Ferdinand. It is forty-nine years old and is the son of Archduke Charles Louis, brother of Francis Joseph. Another brother was Archduke Ferdinand, who, under the name of Maximilian, ruled over Mexico as emperor for a few years until the insurgent Mexicans took his life at Queretaro in 1867.

All Buried in Ancient Church

When the time comes for the laying away of the members of the house of Hapsburg their remains are interred in the ancient church of the Capuchins in Vienna. The ceremonies attending the burials have come down through the rich past of the house of Hapsburg, filled with the traditions and observances of centuries. Not like that attending the interment of a common mortal is the ritual which governs the funeral of a member of the house of Hapsburg. The members of the house are devout Roman Catholics, and the ceremonial of the church is followed with minute exactness, but with added features which had their birth centuries ago.

First the body lies in state for a prescribed time. When the day set for the funeral arrives there is a requiem mass in the oratory, after which the coffin is locked and the key is presented to the court marshal. The coffin is then taken in solemn procession to the ancient church of the Capuchins and is received there by the court marshal, the chief master of ceremonies of the imperial court and the father guardian.

The interior of the church is draped in deepest black, setting off with somberness the catafalque which stands in the center and is surrounded by massive candelabra. There is a pontifical mass, which is attended by the emperor, members of the imperial family and their relatives from foreign lands, the dignitaries of the court, representatives of all the governments comprised in the dual empire, high officials of Vienna, Budapest and other cities, etc. After solemn observances that are hallowed by time the coffin with its contents is taken to the vault, where it is delivered into the charge of the father guardian.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

FIREMEN WERE BLOWN THROUGH THE ROOF

Suffering Caused by Crash—One Man May Not Recover—Loss Estimated at $50,000

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 27.—Fire which started yesterday morning in the factory of the Anderson Candy company at 72 Orange street did $50,000 damage and nearly cost the lives of a company of the fire department.

The blaze had fairly started up through the three-story brick structure when a terrific explosion on the second floor levelled the solid walls on three sides of the building and injured six men of engine company 7.

Five of the men escaped with serious bruises, but the other, William Gill, is hovering between life and death at Mercy hospital.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery. George B. Hazard, treasurer of the candy company, says it was undoubtedly caused when the firemen turned a deluge of cold water on the hot ovens situated on the second floor. He says there was no explosive material in the building. Fire department officials, however, say this was impossible. The district chief denies that water was directed to the second floor until after the explosion.

Although the fire was under control an hour after the second alarm was sounded, it threatened the entire downtown section of the city. Adjoining buildings were damaged by falling walls, but the fire was confined to the building in which it started.

Engine 7 was one of the first companies to reach the scene, and some of its men were climbing to the roof of the burning building when the explosion came, with a report that was heard throughout the business district.

The walls on three sides went down and the firemen were left hanging to the iron supporting beams. Shortly after these fell and the firemen were dropped from the second and third floors. George Davis and William Gill were of the few who were on the third floor. In the midst of bricks, lumber and iron, they were hurled to the roof of a one-story building at 75 Orange street. The force of the explosion was so great that they plunged through the roof into the street below. Firemen on the street smashed in the door and rescued both men in an unconscious condition. Davis recovered consciousness shortly after and was taken home. It is said that his injuries are not serious.

Gill was much more seriously hurt, and it was several hours before the doctors said he would live.

HALF MILLION DOLLARS

Saved in First 15 Days by Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Not only has the parcel post saved the people of the United States in the first 15 days of its existence more than a half million dollars, according to Senator Bourne, Jr., author of the law, but it has not proved a hardship to the overworked letter carrier. Senate Bourne today announced that reports from 45 leading cities of the country, which produce almost half of the postal revenues, showed that during the 15 working days between Jan. 1 and 15 a total of over a million parcels, outgoing parcels were despatched at a cost of $335,255, or about 17 cents a parcel.

KILLED HIMSELF BY GAS

Suicide Posted Sign, Stating Gas Was on

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Before August Tushman, a woodworker out of work and with an ailing wife, hanged himself by gas today he thrust of the safety of the other tenants of the house and posted a sign on the outside of his closed bedroom door. The sign read:

"Open the window in the kitchen first and also the windows in the bedroom. The gas has been on since midnight under high pressure."

game, employed in his endeavors the aid of 160 American dogs. These dogs were first trained in hunting big game in the cane-brakes of Mississippi and Louisiana. Their wonderful courage so impressed Mr. Baird, that he felt sure that dogs, and not the lion, is the king of beasts. To prove this he set out from America for Africa, and the story of the achievements of these dogs is told in a series of marvelous motion pictures. All this will be seen at the Opera House tonight, among the many pictures taken in that of the water-hole, which is said by Prof. Osborne, president of American Museum of Natural History, and dean of the faculty of Pure Science at Columbia, to be the greatest contribution to natural science of the past decade. The pictures of the water-hole were taken after a photographer had spent three days in a tree, waiting for the animals to emerge from their jungles. Here are shown such animals of the jungle as zebra, elephants, rhinoceroses, giraffes, deer, monkey, etc., who come down to the water hole to have their thirst quenched.

feature of the bill at the Keith theatre this week, will be the most talked of individual in town. It is doubtful if any other person in the country is so capable of directing attention his way as has Hardeen. What he does is so remarkable, and his manner of doing it so unique, that audiences will be sure to find him for his work. Hardeen escapes from packing boxes, strait jackets, milk cans, manacles, leg irons and from any and all methods employed by the police in making fast prisoners. Hardeen is brother of Houdini, who appeared in this city some years ago, and who escaped from a cell at the police station in 15 seconds. The two studied the fine art of breaking locks together when boys, but Hardeen decided not to follow the career of a performer. Houdini's success were so great in Germany and France that his brother decided to enter the business, and straightaway he became as prominent a success as his older brother. One of his first stunts was jumping from a bridge over the Ohio river at Louisville, Kentucky, a distance of 60 feet into the muddy water. He was handcuffed and had on leg irons. When he came to the surface of the river he was freed from all his fetters. The audience, who were present in the greatest numbers in the world, an attempt will be made to move him from one of the great big diving boards in the city. In 1909 last week sailors brought regulation strait jackets and punishment coats and leg irons from the old police station "Saucers" and from all of these Hardeen got free. He escapes an impartial jury to sit in judgment on his work. Hardeen is a native of America, but he has upon his shoulders to furnish him with his work. The telephone number of the box office is 15.

Russia to Use War Axes

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 27.—Russia has suddenly awakened to the utility of the automobile in war owing to the announcement of the clouds in the Balkans. Russian armies have experimentally used American and other cars as the possibility of establishing a factory in Russia on the basis of guaranteed annual output for freight and passenger cars and the taking away of the factory by the Russian government. The Russian government has decided to establish a factory in Russia on the basis of guaranteed annual output for freight and passenger cars and the taking away of the factory by the Russian government.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common in young folks as well as old. Especially is it the case with those who work in ill-ventilated factories—or those who are shut up indoors in winter time with a coal stove burning up the oxygen or emitting carbonic (acid) gas. This blood, or blood which lacks the red blood corpuscles in anemic persons may have been caused by lack of food from ill-buffed into lungs, or by poor digestion or dyspepsia. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart which is not heart disease at all, but caused by indigestion. Whatever the cause, there's just one remedy that you can turn to—knowing that it has given satisfaction for over 40 years.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Is a blood purifier and alterative that starts the liver and stomach into vigorous action. It thus assists the body to manufacture rich red blood which feeds the heart—nerves—brain and organs of the body. The organs work smoothly like machinery running in oil. You feel clean, strong and vigorous instead of tired, weak and faint. Nowadays you can obtain Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Tablets, as well as the liquid form from all medicine dealers, or tablets by mail, prepaid in 11 or 50c size. Address R. V. Pierce, M. GONE TO HIS REWARD

Inspector Frank Fox Passed Away

WAS ONE OF MOST EFFICIENT POLICE OFFICERS

He Was Widely Known In Fraternal Circles and His Death Will Be Deeply Felt by All Who Knew Him

The many friends of Police Inspector Frank Fox will be pained to learn of his death which occurred yesterday at his home, 25 Chandler street. Deceased, who was 52 years of age, was widely known in this city, having been connected with the police department for the past 15 years, and his many friends, as well as associates in the department will deeply feel his demise.

Mr. Fox was prominently known in fraternal circles, especially among the members of the Royal Canadian Mace, having been a very devoted and energetic worker for many years, and also occupied the position of regent. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth T., two sons, George and Charles, both students at the high school, his father, Patrick, two sisters, Mrs. John Higgins of Plymouth and Mrs. Thomas Sheehan of this city, together with two brothers, Thomas and John.

Deceased became a member of the Lowell police department on October 1, 1898, and was considered one of the best officers of the department, having on several occasions been publicly commended for meritorious acts. For the past few years he has been connected with the liquor squad and did very efficient work.

Early last fall, Inspector Fox was taken ill, but after being absent from duty for several weeks, he returned, and appeared to be enjoying good health. He worked but a short time, however, when he was advised to give up his duties until he improved. In the meantime, his health gradually grew worse until death occurred.

Last year Inspector Fox was president of the Lowell Police Relief association and undoubtedly would have been elected this year but for his illness at the time of the election.

THE LARCENY OF TOOLS

Carpenters Want Police to Act

Michael A. Lee, business agent of the Carpenters' union, is interesting himself in the larceny and sale of carpenters' tools. It seems that such larceny is very common and the thing "what hurts" is that the carpenter whose tools are stolen is required to pay the pawn broker as much, and perhaps a little more than the pawn-broker paid the thief. Mr. Lee is of the opinion that it is not a very good way of doing business and he has taken the matter up with the police department and the license commission. He wants the police department to keep a closer eye on thieves and he wants a law from the license commission. If the pawnbroker can legally claim reimbursement from a carpenter who seeks to recover his tools, after having ascertained where they had been pawned.

POLICE TO GUARD PARLIAMENT

Fear Trouble Today From Suffragettes at Franchise Vote—2000 Constables on Duty

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Owing to the threats of the suffragettes as to what they will do in case the amendment of Sir Edward Grey to the franchise bill is rejected today, the police are taking extreme precautions to preserve order about the parliament buildings. Two thousand constables will be concentrated at Westminster and there will be 10 mounted men.

There will be undoubtedly a big crowd drawn by the hope of fun with a lot of women who have no interest in the franchise bill. If any rioting should occur the police will promptly clear Parliament square. The members of the cabinet will be guarded at every move by two detectives and their homes will be guarded by the police.

Reports of Killing Confirmed

about 10 years, who was sent in on a charge of being a vagrant. The man was very dirty and had only one shoe on, his feet being almost bare. She looked sickly and walked with great difficulty. When the question of guilt was put to her by Clerk Savage, the woman replied "Well, I say not guilty for I always worked for my living." At this point the arresting officer was called to the witness stand and said he arrested the woman in Chapel street last night. He told the court the woman had been sleeping in entry ways for the past three months and said her case was a most pitiable one. Judge Knight asked Mrs. Clark if she had a home and her reply was that she had no particular place to sleep or live. She said she had been living in Lowell for the past 15 years and previous to her coming to this city she was residing in Ballardvale with her folks. Her case was continued till tomorrow morning and in the meantime an effort will be made to place the woman in a suitable place.

Non-Support Case

William D. Carroll, a robust young man, was arraigned in court on a complaint charging him with drunkenness and neglect of wife and children. The defendant admitted his guilt and after hearing testimony of the wife, which was to the effect that she has six children to support, and that her husband left her three months ago and during this time gave her $5 for the support of her children, the court sentenced Carroll to the house of correction in Cambridge for a term of four months, and made an order for 50 cents a day to be paid to the wife, this money to be the man's salary while in jail. The drunkenness complaint was placed on file.

Freight Jumpers

Four young freight jumpers, John J. Ford, James Eastman, Daniel Silva and Henry Lyons, who all said they came from Lawrence, were arrested early yesterday morning near the Bleachery station by Patrolman Burke, on a complaint charging them with entering and remaining without right on the premises of the Boston & Maine Railroad company. The young men when taken in custody were lying in one of the freight cars coming from Lawrence and bound for northern Vermont. In court this morning all pleaded guilty and on promise they would return to their own city, they were allowed to go and their cases were placed on file.

Larceny Charge

David Barton, a neat looking young man who said his home is in Providence, R. I., was arrested in Middlesex street, Saturday night, while on the way of disposing of three pairs of trousers for a small sum of money. The young man was sent to the station and later the goods were examined and identified as the property of Macartney's, Putnam's and King's stores. He denied his guilt in court and at the request of his counsel, the case was continued until Wednesday morning, bail being fixed at $200.

Changed His Mind

Max Newberry, who a few days ago was sentenced to three months in jail for drunkenness and while in the cell at the time, appeared before the court this morning and withdrew his appeal, and he was committed.

Drunkenness

The following were arrested on the Sabbath day in an intoxicated condition and this morning they were all fined $5 each: Anthony Previtz, Charles Smaglich, Manuel Perry, Martin Gregory and James J. Sullivan.

Alfred Merrill who made his third appearance before the court, was sent to the common jail for a term of four months. George McLeod for the next 15 days will receive his mail at the Thordike street mansion, while Margaret Dellemare will also remain in the castle for the same period.

Ryan was ordered committed for two months, while James Hennessey, who went under the name of Clark up to yesterday morning, when he was released from jail, after serving the court for three months, had his case continued till tomorrow morning. At first he was fined $2, as it was believed this was his first offense, but after a whispered conversation between Officer Slattery and the judge, the sentence was withdrawn and the case was continued.

Joseph Worley had a pair of beautifully colored eyes this morning. He was charged with drunkenness but denied the allegation, and the case was continued for a day. Elsie A. Leblanc admitted being drunk but at the request of the prosecuting officer the sentence was deferred until tomorrow.

Antonio Kello, Manuel Manzas and John Gomez, according to Patrolmen Considine and Cossette, had a little fight in Tremont street Saturday evening, and inasmuch as the trio was drunk they were sent in. They denied their guilt but the court found otherwise and a fine of $5 was imposed upon each man.

David A. Davis admitted being drunk Saturday night, but emphatically denied striking Officer Lenny. The case at the request of his counsel was laid over to tomorrow. It is said that Patrolman Lenny while in the act of arresting Davis received a sprained wrist.

Wellcome and Antonio Lamontagne were both charged with drunkenness and they pleaded not guilty. The latter was also charged with lewd and lascivious cohabitation with a young man and the cases will be heard tomorrow.

The following second offenders were fined $5 each: Albert Plante, Alphonse Bellemare, Peter Bellemare, Philip S. Riley, Florence Donohue, James Reynolds, John B. Leach, John J. Flynn and Frank Johnson. Catherine Nichols, also a second offender, was sentenced to the common jail for one month.

Frank J. Kelley, according to Patrolman J. H. Clark, was in an intoxicated condition Saturday night and while in Thordike street assaulted all women who walked by him. He was fined $10.

REGULAR MEETING OF V. M. C. I.

Was Held Yesterday Morning in Their Rooms and Several New Members Were Admitted

The regular weekly meeting of the Young Men's Catholic Institute was held yesterday morning in the rooms on Stockpile street with an exceptionally large attendance. The following new names were added to the membership roll: John J. Hurley, John P. Curry, Frederick J. Gannon, Joseph Barry, Maurice Griffin and John Mulligan, Jr.

Mr. Cole, chairman of the bowling tournament committee, reported that the affairs of the tournament were progressing smoothly and that there was a great deal of interest manifested in the competition. For the "Night-before-Lent" social committee Mr. McCarthy has the report of the activities of that body and the arrangements for the event are going ahead rapidly. McNeill's orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing.

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE UNDER THE WEATHER TWO CARS COLLIDED

To Have Speaker From Chicago March 16 to Rest at Home This Afternoon

Mayor O'Donnell is under the weather. The mayor was at his office this morning and Dr. T. B. Smith advised him to go home. About all of the estimates for the year have been received at the mayor's office but they have not been gone over and it may be some days before the mayor will be able to give his attention to them. The mayor cannot speak above a whisper and he was forced, this forenoon, to deny himself to visitors. A few city officials were admitted and the fellow who applied for a license to sell beer was given a ticket to the mayor's office. The mayor wanted him to "soft pedal" the matter. Alderman Cummings heard of the mayor's temporary affliction and having something to say to the mayor, Cummings wrote it on a sheet of paper and presented it to the mayor in person. Mr. Cummings always was very considerate and his kindly act was appreciated by the mayor whose sense of humor is anything but dull. The mayor is suffering from a very severe cold.

Pensions to Poor Mothers

TACOMA, Jan. 27.—Washington will be the first state to pay pensions to mothers. The judiciary committee of the lower house has acted favorably on the bill and a majority of house and senate favor its adoption. The bill provides payment of $15 a month for the support of the first child and $5 monthly additional for each additional child of destitute mothers. The house judiciary committee has reported favorably a bill providing for the payment by the state or county of $150 a day to destitute wives of inmates of penal institutions for the work of prisoners in prison or in road gangs. This law will cause a larger use of prisoners on state road work.

Heike Must Serve Sentence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Charles R. Heike, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining Co., has no immunity from the prosecution for his knowledge of the sugar weighing frauds against the government which he testified before the grand jury. The supreme court so held today.

The court held that Heike must serve his eight months' imprisonment and pay his $5000 fine.

Walters' Strike Is Off

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—From appearance at the big trial today, the strike of ers strike is off. Many former employees reported for work this morning and some were given old places. Many, however, found their places filled. Those who returned to work today agreed to accept meeting concessions offered by the employers. A few strikers are still holding out and some of the smaller hotels were surrounded by pickets.

COMMON DANGER NEEDED CHEMIST DIED SUDDENLY

To Unite the Different Religious Sects

Alkali Taken in Laboratory by Mistake

SESSION BY REV. CHARLES T. BILLINGS

He Discussed Church Unity and Cooperation Before a Large Congregation Yesterday

Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church, does not believe the unity of churches possible unless it be through the menace of a common danger. In his sermon Sunday morning, Mr. Billings stated that each denomination has a pride in its own achievement, and none wishes to have its individuality swallowed up by a larger and different church.

His text was from the 33rd psalm: "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." In part he said:

"This thought was probably inspired by the Jewish festivals. To Jerusalem, these were held, came Jews from every known country of the world. From Greece, Egypt, Asia Minor, Italy, the Jewish people, speaking various languages, but confessing one God, came to unite in loyalty to their religion. It was the very highest influence in their life that brought them together and probably the only power that could."

"In our Christian sects today we have one God, one Christ, and for the majority of the sect, one Bible. We are all looking to the same great truths and facts for inspirations and guidance. But the interpretation of these facts drives us far apart. Matters of organization, of creed, or ritual separate us, and no common beliefs unite us. No rites bring us together in praise and thanksgiving, no festivals call us together in worship of our God."

"And there is need in these days of getting together. The world is recognizing it. Church unity is a favorite topic for discussion. It is admitted as desirable. Plans are proposed, but little is done.
